

MAE JAMES, long time and beloved teacher in the primary grades of Hamlin Schools, is in California for an extended visit with relatives and friends. She retired from the teaching profession in Hamlin last year after more than 35 years of teaching. She can count by the scores now grown people with families who have been her pupils through the years.

A postal card to The Herald from Miss James declares that she is enjoying her visit. "Had a wonderful Christmas and New Year season," her card reveals.

IN VIRGINIA when a 93-year-old man married a 63-year-old woman, who was the step-daughter of his daughter, who had married his new wife's father, he became the son-in-law of his daughter, and a son-in-law of his own son-in-law. He also became the father-in-law of his own father-in-law. In addition, the new bride became the mother-in-law to her own father, while she and her husband's daughter became each other's stepmother.

The bridegroom and the wife's father now are step-sons to each other, while the new bride and her husband's daughter are also step-daughters to each other.

PRODUCED in this column some years ago was the following literary masterpiece, which we figure may have been missed by some of the younger generation—or maybe we have a new reader of this column:

The cow is a female quadruped with a halo voice and a poker face. She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk.

The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When this one is filled, the cow retires to a quiet place where her ill manners will occasion no comment and devotes herself to regurgitating. The raw material thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of her face is pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach. There it is converted into cow.

The young cow is called a calf and is used in the manufacture of chicken salad. The male cow is called bull and is lassoed in Texas, fought in Mexico and shot almost everywhere.

A slice of cow is worth eight cents on the cow, 14 cents in the hands of the packers and $2.40 at the nearest restaurant.

SUCCESS, declares a Hamlin business man, is a wonderful thing. But it has its drawbacks, he avers. For example, he says one of friends has concluded that:

Success nowadays is making more money to pay the taxes which you would not be paying if you had not made so much money already.

HERMAN McBRIDE relates a true story about Stanley Carmichael and Arlie Casle going on a duck hunting trip recently, after which they expected the other fellow to furnish the meat for a duck dinner.

He says the two Hamlin ninrod experts had spent most of an afternoon blasting into the flocks of ducks as they flew over and as they sat a few feet away on a favorite pond. After shooting up several boxes of shells they still had failed to bring down a single duck—or a married one.

Arlie says to Stanley: "Well, we are nearly out of shells, Stan. We might as well go on home."

"Wait, Casle," Stan says, "we might as well finish our shells and miss a few more."

As a postscript to his story Herman says Arlie ran over a duck on their flight home in the Casle car.

A SMART TWERP of Hamlin has some stock-in-trade questions which he uses when the conversation of his circle gets to fragging. Some of them follow:

Q—How can you tell the score of a ball game before it is played?
A—It's always 0 to 0 before the game is played.

Q—Which side of the hot dog is the left side?
A—The side that isn't eaten.

Q—Why can't a man's hand be over 11 inches?
A—Because if it were 22 inches it would be a foot.

Anson Methodists To Feast as Guests Of Local Church

Anson Methodists will feast on a free meal in Hamlin within a few days—thanks to members of the First Methodist Church, who were losers in a three-month church and Sunday School attendance contest between the two congregations that closed with the month of December.

Statistics in the three-month contest showed that the Anson First Methodists racked up a total pointage of 7,695 to 7,339 for the Hamlin Methodists, according to Rev. Darris L. Egger, pastor of the local church. The figures were tabulated from attendance at the Sunday School, morning and evening church services, mid-week service and Methodist Men's meetings.

The Hamlin church will provide the meat, drinks and bread for the two-church banquet, which has been tentatively set for the evening of January 16. Members will bring vegetables, salads and dessert.

The Anson group will arrange for the program for the affair, it is announced.

PACKING UP—Governor Allan Shivers packs his personal belongings in preparation for leaving office on January 15 when Governor-Elect Price Daniel takes over. Johnnie Dennis, the governor's personal secretary, helps with packing the books.

Hamlin Area Gets Money for New Road Projects This Year

Loop West from Highway 83 to T-P Camp Slated

Good portions of the right-of-way for two small highway projects in the Hamlin section, north and west of Hamlin, had been secured early this week, according to Fisher County officials, where the road building is scheduled for the next several months.

Designated by the Texas Highway Commission as some extra projects, in addition to already-in-the-mill routes, the two highway projects would give the northern and western sections of Fisher County, which are actually in the Hamlin trade territory, some much needed roads. They would be especially appreciated during wet spells when some sections of the present routes become almost impassable.

The first project would be about 10 miles of farm-to-market type paved highway extending from Highway 83, five miles north of Hamlin, west by the Y-6 Ranch to the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company camp and gas plant, then south to Highway 92.

Second project is an eight-mile link between the Celotex Corporation plant, southwest of Hamlin, west to Royston. This likewise would provide a needed farm-to-market road making a circuitous route from Hamlin to Royston.

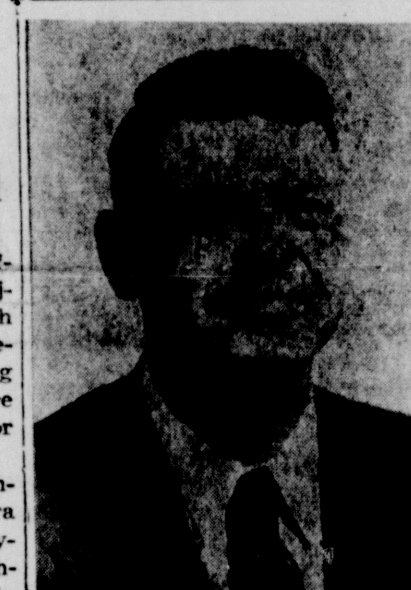

In connection with the latter project, however, a number of citizens of Hamlin and those living directly west of Hamlin have prepared a petition to the highway commission asking that the route be changed to go west from the Carlton Blacksmith Shop, by the Hamlin Country Club and General Crude Oil Company camp to Royston. This petition will be presented soon to the commission at Austin.

Money for these two projects has been provided by funds previously designated for other highway construction in the state, for which right-of-way was not provided by counties where it was due to be spent, according to Jake Roberts of Abilene, district highway engineer.

Roughage Program Extended by Federal Government in Texas

The roughage program for Texas has been extended in all 238 counties previously designated, including Jones, Fisher, Stonewall, Shackelford, Taylor and Nolan. Walter T. McKay, state Farmers Home Administration director, announced this week.

County committees in all designated counties are being advised that they may now accept applications for a supply of roughage feed to carry basic livestock through March 15, 1957.

FIRE CHIEF—Jack White, Hamlin garage man (above), was re-elected chief of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department at the annual business meeting of the group Thursday night. He has just completed his first term in the position.

Jack White Again Named President By Firemen Group

Jack White, Hamlin garage man, was re-elected president of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department at the annual business meeting of the group last Thursday evening at the fire station. He recently completed his first term in the office.

Other officers for the ensuing year were named as follows: James Josey, first assistant chief; Pete Bond, second assistant chief; Bryant Conner, president; Lee Hastings, vice president; J. O. Murphy, secretary-treasurer; Bob Westmoreland, assistant secretary-treasurer; Rev. Victor Ortiz, chaplain; D. M. Perrin, captain, first team; Earl Johnson, captain, second team; Jimmy Lee Hastings, mascot. On the pension board Lee Hastings was named for a three-year term and Earl Johnson renamed for two years.

The election of officers and other business were conducted following the annual firemen's feed at the Bluebonnet Cafe.

It was reported at the session that the fire department spent a little over $200 on the Christmas cheer activity. The boys delivered groceries, toys and shoes to several needy families Christmas Eve. Twenty-three toys were given for the gesture by members of the Lions Club.

The firemen played host to about 500 children of the community at a Christmas picture show at the Ferguson Theater, when comedies were shown by the theater management free. Favors were given by the firemen to each child in addition to special prizes of a bicycle, doll and football presented by merchants.

Hamlin Rotary Club Pushes Poll Tax Drive

A campaign to get Hamlin area voters to secure their poll tax receipts before the deadline on January 31 is being conducted in the vicinity by Hamlin Rotary Club.

Posters, printed in red, were placed in windows and other conspicuous spots of business houses of the city over the week-end pointing to the poll tax paying deadline. Application blanks for the poll tax receipts, which must be mailed to the tax assessor-collector at Anson, also were left with the business houses.

Members of the civic club point to the fact that several important elections are scheduled during the coming year, to say nothing of the citizen's obligation to exercise his right to vote all the time.

Bank's Statement Reflects Stability Of Hamlin Section

Despite continuing drought conditions in the Hamlin territory that definitely affect the economy of the farmer and rancher of the territory, the area remains in a healthy financial condition generally.

This is reflected in the official bank statement of the Farmers & Merchants National Bank for condition at the close of business on December 31, 1956, released last week.

Deposits totaled $4,614,862.05 in the statement, which was some $270,000 more than the previous statement for September 26. The total figure compares with the total of five years ago of $4,670,066.08.

Loans, also a barometer of the section's stability, were down from the previous statement, being listed at $1,262,349.81 in the current statement compared with the last report of $1,426,634.66, showing considerable pay-off during the past 90 days.

Quick assets of the Hamlin bank in the December 31 statement are shown as $1,626,759.14 in U. S. government bonds, $303,132.96 in CCC loans, $100,000 in bills of exchange on grain, and $1,246,121.04 in cash on hand and due from banks.

On the liability side of the statement, capital and surplus are retained at $200,000. Undivided profits were listed at $140,487.59, and reserves showed at $6,958.55.

Negro Minstrel Being Planned by Lions

Presentation of a negro minstrel is being planned for the near future by members of the Hamlin Lions Club. It was announced this week by President Edgar Duncan of the civic club.

The Lions have presented several minstrels in the past, the last one having been six years ago. Specially rented costumes will be used to give unusual color to the show, Duncan said.

Proceeds from the minstrel will be used for club projects, major one being assistance for people with eyesight deficiencies.

New Grain Sorghum Hybrids Adapted For Area Offer Higher Early Yields

Seven grain sorghum hybrids, developed cooperatively by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be available to farmers of the Hamlin area and elsewhere in Texas for planting in 1957. These hybrids are the result of research work which began in 1921 and are the first practical hybrids to be released from these studies.

The seven hybrids, RS 590, Texas 601, RS 610, Texas 611, Texas 620, RS 650 and Texas 660, are the best of several hundred produced and tested during the past 20 years at the Lubbock and Chillicothe stations. Tests were conducted last year throughout Texas and all have thus been grown under limited field demonstrations. The plant breeders for the Texas Station say still better hybrids with improved adaptation to various growing conditions can be expected in the near future.

Farmers are advised to plant one or more of the hybrids adapted to their areas and to make comparisons with standard varieties. Further, it is suggested, that only certified hybrid seed be planted, an insurance that seed planted are correctly labeled.

Planting seed of these seven hybrids are white, but the grain produced will be red. In general, the higher the hybrid number, the later is its maturity, but none is as late as Plainsman. Yields 20 to 40 per cent greater than varieties of the same maturity under most conditions can be expected. The plants show superior seedling vigor, rapid growth and uniform height and maturity. Since the hybrids have larger heads and are often slightly taller than the varieties, occasionally more lodging may occur in the hybrids. Cultural practices for the sorghum hybrids are the same as recommended for sorghum varieties.

Construction on Project to Start By February 1

Expansion of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital, which has been in the planning stage for months, this week loomed as a soon-to-be-realized possibility with sending out of specifications for the additions and calling for bids on the $60,000 project for next Thursday, January 17, according to W. L. Fletcher Jr., president of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association.

Sixteen general contractors had called for plans and specifications Tuesday, Fletcher said, which indicates the bidding will be highly competitive. Separate contracts are being sought on the plumbing, air conditioning and electrical work.

The plans, prepared by F. C. Oids Company, architectural firm of Abilene, call for an east wing to the present edifice, repairing of sections of the present building and rearranging of several rooms into patient rooms, a dining room and other facilities.

Doctors' offices, now in the east end of the present structure, will be moved to the new east wing, which also will house new laboratory and clinical rooms. The reception room, now in the center of the main building, also will be moved to the new east wing, and main entrance to the hospital will be from the east instead of the south as at present.

Fletcher said that if bids come within the architects' estimates, and no other difficulties are encountered, actual construction on the project might get underway by February 1.

Ronnie Parker to Preach First Time For Methodists

Ronnie Parker, local high school senior, will officially preach his first sermon at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening, January 13. This special sermon will be in connection with Youth Day at the church, declares Rev. Darris L. Egger, pastor.

Linda Carlton is to arrange for special music. Ushers for the service will be David Bonds, Darris Egger Jr., Bill Richey and Jimmy Shivers.

Young Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parker, made public Sunday morning his intention to enter special Christian service. Ronnie has been active in the Youth Fellowship and in his statement Sunday morning further strengthened this: "For some time I have felt that the Lord has some special work for me to do. Last week I knew for sure. This morning I am dedicating my life to the Lord's work."

A special invitation is given to all in the community to come and hear Ronnie Parker evening at 7:00 o'clock, Egger announces.

Area Motorists Urged by Safety Man To Winterize Their Driving Habits

"Your driving habits must be winterized along with your car!" Hamlin area motorists were given this warning this week by E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president of the Texas Safety Association, as he launched the safe winter driving program of the Texas Safety Association.
"The winter season with its rain, sleet, snow and ice has always increased traffic hazards," McFadden said. "But the driver's knowledge of how to drive in winter can mean the difference between a low or a high traffic toll."
McFadden pointed out that in addition to winterizing his car, a driver should heed these recommendations made by the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards: Accept your responsibility. Adapt your driving to road conditions. Slippery streets call for skilled handling of the car. Use good tires and use reinforced tire chains on snow and ice. They cut stopping distances by about half, and increase traction four to seven times. Always follow other vehicles at a safe distance.
Keep your windshield and windows clear. Clean snow and ice off your windshield and other windows on the side and back of your car. Be sure your windshield wipers, heater and defroster are working properly.
Get the "feel of the road." Try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic.
Pump your brakes with a fast up-and-down motion to slow down or stop. Jamming on your brakes is almost certain to lock your wheels and throw your car into a skid.
Drivers of new cars with automatic transmissions, power brakes and power steering were given a special word of caution.
"In such cars," McFadden said, "the accelerator is the control. Steering and braking should be done smoothly and with care, and the driver should ease up on the gas pedal at the slightest sign of a skid."
McFadden advised motorists to practice smooth driving the year round if they hope to have the habit of driving smoothly when the roads are slippery with snow or ice.
"A good slogan for motorists this month," he said, "would be, 'To survive, winterize before you drive.'"
STILL RUNNING AHEAD.
Cashdown—"Money isn't everything."
Hardup—"No, but it's miles ahead of whatever's in second place."
A millennium is a period of a thousand years.

KEEPING FOREIGN POLICY CONSISTENT IS VITAL

In discussing America's foreign policies, a thoughtful editor recently pointed out to us the difficulties which confront our nation as a result of elections every four years—and how it is impossible to establish any long-range policy when drastic changes in attitude and approach are forever threatening because of a change in administration.
Although efforts have been made by all administrations to build a bi-partisan foreign policy, this has never worked out practically because new men in charge of such policies are appointed by each new president.
This editor suggested that some plan might be established where foreign policy and our foreign relations would be handled by a permanent, non-political group of experts whose term of office would not be interrupted by any change in the party in power. He felt that a group of top men, who could devote their lives to long-term planning on foreign affairs, without any political incentives or interference, could build for our country a foreign policy which would be far superior to anything we have ever attained.

His idea was that such a foreign policy group might be set up in a manner similar to the U. S. Supreme Court—possibly with the group being directly elected by the people, but with no term-of-office expiration unless limited by age, health, etc.
We think this suggestion is worth thinking about. Just how it might be implemented and what objections there might be to such a set-up have not occurred to us and are beyond our province. But, as we have followed the recent political campaign, and realized how debate over foreign policy must drastically lessen respect for and understanding of our foreign policy by other governments, it would seem a great step forward if we could devise a foreign relations set-up which was above politics, and which was administered by experts of unquestionable ability and reputation.

Two Ways to Look at It

No line of work is interesting or uninteresting in itself. There are two different approaches to each task. Much depends upon the amount of thought, ingenuity and effort put into it. But much more depends on the mental attitude. Our job, whether it be junk man or judge, is very much what we make it.

The following parallel statements show how a task can be made easy or hard; a joy or a drudge:

"I am a housewife, and without question I have the most interesting job in the world. My days are full of planning new things for our home, clever ways of making it more attractive for my family and my friends. See that furniture over there? I painted and decorated it myself. My only complaint is that the days are much too short to accomplish everything I have planned. My time is my own—I wouldn't trade positions with anyone."

"I am a housewife, and without question I have the most uninteresting job in the world. My life is the same year in and year out—dish washing, sweeping and dusting. It's not such hard work. I can finish it in a few hours each day—then I am bored with myself, my friends and my family the rest of the day. I wish I had an interesting job where I could meet people, exciting people who are really doing things. An ever-changing job which would keep me absorbed every minute."

"I am a ticket agent or rather a travel salesman—and I can't imagine any work more interesting. I have never been able to travel very much myself, but I get a big kick out of helping other people plan their trips. When a passenger requests information about some place with which I'm familiar, I tell him all I can, then remember the name for a little research later, to be ready for the next one. Most places—from Podunk to Pittsburgh—have a lot of interesting features. If you get to know them, I'm reading all about them, and if my plans work out, I'm actually going to see most of them some time. Yes, sir! I've certainly got an interesting job."

"I am a ticket agent, a job I wouldn't wish on my worst enemy. People ask me such absurd questions. Sometimes I think what this country needs most is better schools to teach geography. They don't know anything, and they expect me to know everything under the sun! If they would decide where they're going before they get to my window it certainly would save me a lot of time and trouble. And I can't see why some of them go the places they do, anyhow. Most of them are nothing but wide places in the road. I'd like to get a job where I can travel to important places myself without being bothered with other people wanting to go places."

Road of Service

When a road is once built, it is a strange thing how it collects traffic, how every year as it goes on, more and more people are found to walk thereon, and others are raised up to repair and perpetuate it, and keep it alive.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The common economic goal of the free world, to discourage communism, is removing barriers to the flow of capital. The opportunities for achieving a stronger free world and at the same time for sound investment are fabulous. By strengthening capitalism abroad, we are strengthening the free enterprise system, which is basic to our own way of life.—Norwalk, Connecticut, Hour.

Trade Union Transforms

Does communism work to the advantage of the "common man" and the masses of people? If you have doubts as to the answer, some statements made by Edward Cranshaw, one of the few real Western authorities on Russia, in his new book, "Russia Without Stalin: The Emerging Pattern," should be illuminating.
He says: "The Soviet Union today offers contrasts of luxurious living and privation as great as anywhere in the world."

In another place he writes: "The trade unions were steadily transformed from protectors of the interests of the workers in face of the state to protectors of the interest of the state in face of the workers."
For selfish reasons, if none other, workers should be among the most aggressive opponents of communism or any other form of super, all-powerful government. This kind of government inevitably destroys free labor just as it destroys free enterprise.

Oil Needs 2,000 Skills

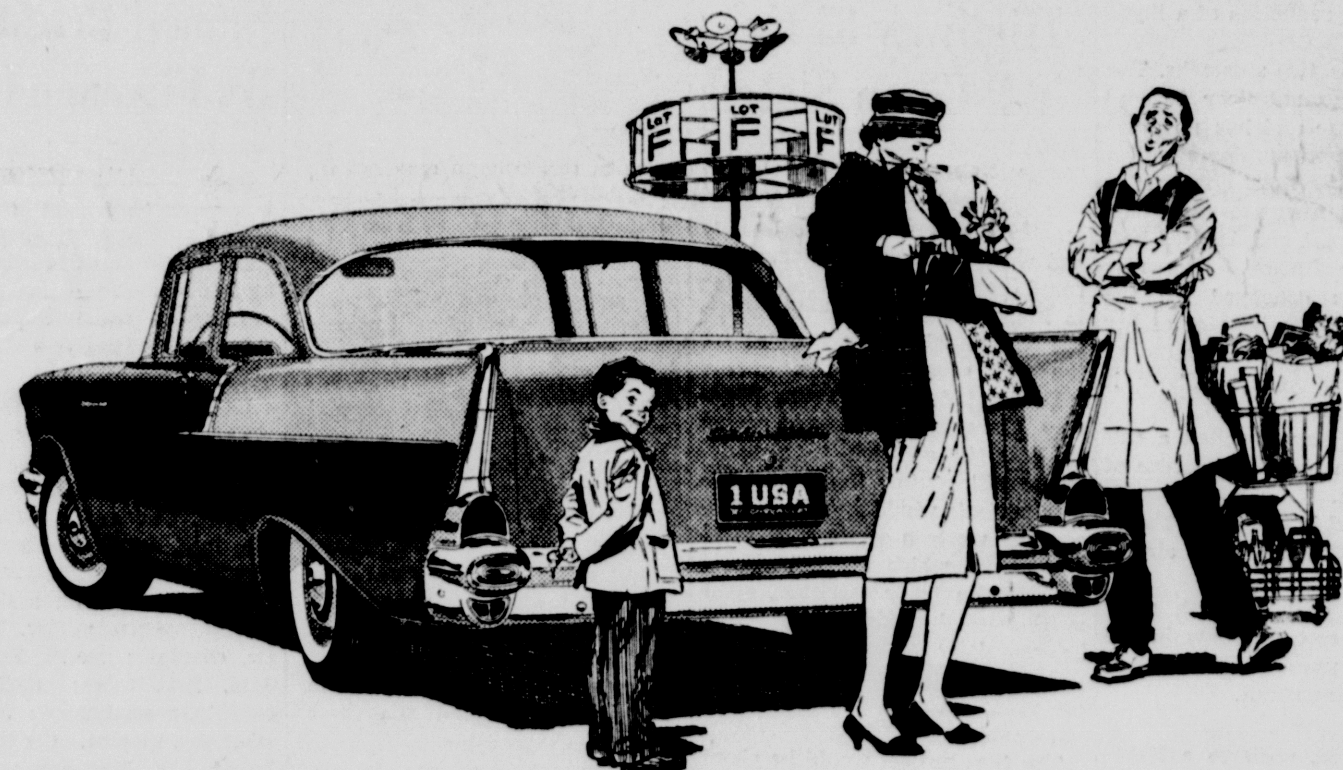

The population of the United States recently reached 165,000,000. And 1,650,000 of those people—one in each hundred—earn their living in the oil industry. That number is more than the populations of San Francisco and Boston combined.

Writing in the magazine, Service, David Griffith tells something about those jobs. This year about 3,000,000,000 barrels of oil products will be produced—in the form of gasoline and lubricants, fuel oil for homes and industries, and raw materials for synthetic rubber, plastics, paints, drugs, detergents and an almost endless list of other things we use in our daily lives.

Griffith says that oil men and women represent more than 2,000 trades and professions, all requiring special skills, knowledge and education of one kind or another. The list would be about as varied as anyone can imagine—from geologists to pilots, from tool dressers to electronic engineers, from freight clerks to ships' captains, from firemen to service station operators. No business in the world needs and employs a greater variety of skills and crafts.

These are good jobs, too. In point of earnings, oil production and refining rank among the top industries of the nation. Fringe benefits are many and working conditions are of the best. Personnel turnover rates are low—always a good barometer of an industry's worth from the employee's standpoint. To quote Griffith once more, "... working for the oil industry is a challenge, but it offers very real rewards..." An oil man has to know his job—or be willing to go all-out in an effort to learn. Once has has proven his ability and willingness to work, he will have the satisfaction of being a member of one of the most progressive industries on earth."

National Congress Needs Economists To Help Shape Policies, Says Babson

Members of the Congress of the nation are discussed this week by Roger W. Babson, economist and analyst, who has been a contributor to columns of The Herald for many years. He says in his release:

Now that the senators and representatives are organized, we are able to make a rough analysis of their ability and training. It appears that about three-quarters of both branches of Congress are lawyers. At first glance, this seems reasonable, as their job is to make laws; this, however, should be the work of professional clerks. The congressmen should confine their efforts to questions of policies.

Lawyers, by training, are in a poor position to determine basic policies. Lawyers are trained to win cases, whether the defendant or prosecutor is right or wrong. The very fact that there are two parties to each suit though, only one party can win, and that both sides are represented by attorneys is definite evidence that half of the attorneys are wrong! eyes of a statistician, this is a very poor record. If one-half of the bridges built by engineers collapsed, something would be done about it.

Ninety per cent of the legislation today is economic. This applies to agriculture, to manufacturing, to general business, and even the pensions for individuals. There should be no gambling connected with such legislation. A table for multiplication, division or addition allows for no compromises. It is the same with policies; they are either right or wrong. They should not be settled out of court or in cloak rooms. All this means that three-quarters of the senators and representatives should be nationally recognized economists. And they should be qualified either to legislate according to economic principles or else not to legislate at all.

This principle should have been adopted when the nation was on the gold standard; but now that we are on the political standard, it is imperative. Some claim that more businessmen, bankers, manufacturers and labor leaders should take the place of these lawyers. The real need, however, is for trained and practical economists and engineers who know what is best for the nation and have the courage to vote accordingly.

Probably the Suez difficulty is due to many causes, but it was primarily a matter of politics. President Nasser of Egypt was playing politics to get the goodwill of his people while raising money to build the great Aswan Dam. Prime Minister Eden was playing politics to hold his position and not be thrown out by the Labor party. Other countries involved—possibly including the United States—were considering their heavy investments in oil. Basically, however, the Suez difficulty is an economic problem. It is not the votes involved which should be considered, but rather the tankage, distances, freight rates and other important problems of international trade. Probably the final solution will reflect a mixture of politics, statistical facts and world economics. This means that the solution of the problem will not be permanent, but will be a mere stopgap. This shows that courageous economists are needed in international affairs as well as in domestic affairs.

The custom of selecting our ambassadors according to their wealth or their contributions to campaign funds is absolutely wicked. Such a policy may have been largely responsible for the fact that England and France acted without the knowledge of the United States or the United Nations. Ambassadors should be trained economists, which probably means career men. Representatives to the United Nations should be selected according to their knowledge of economics and their experience in deciding economic problems.

Individual, national and international prosperity depends upon the recognition of the sanctity of contracts. No individual, corporation or nation can prosper in the long run without an earnest endeavor to carry out its contracts. This is a fundamental matter in connection with the oil companies using the Suez Canal. Furthermore, a man does not need legal training in order to recognize the ten commandments. Honesty is not only the best policy, but it is the only policy upon which a reputation or a business or a nation can prosper and survive. No one nation should be allowed to interfere with the international trade vitally affecting all nations. A great need today is confidence.

Of course, in discussing the sanctity of a contract, an individual, corporation or nation is justified in knowing that the contract was not obtained dishonestly by misrepresentation, coercion or bribery. It is possible that some contracts for drilling oil were obtained under rather unsavory conditions, but no such claims have been made in connection with the high grade oil companies now suffering from the Suez dispute.

Possibly it would have been better to have had the Suez Canal contract, when originally drawn, made subject to re-negotiations similar to the re-negotiations that the oil companies have already gone through. These Suez negotiations could have been under the jurisdiction of a committee of accountants and economists approved by the World Court. The committee could employ an international and impartial lawyer, upon whom all parties would agree. Their decisions, however, should strengthen the importance of the sanctity of contracts and not undermine or impair same.

In closing, let me say that my appeal in this column may not do any good, but, as Congress is now organizing and as the Suez ne-

Mr. and Mrs. Will Andress Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary Here

Mr. and Mrs. Will Andress of Hamlin celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with open house in their home at 30 North-west Avenue C in Hamlin.

They are the parents of Marvin Andress of Breckenridge, Mrs. Grace Holder of Hollywood, California, Mrs. Herman Mayfield of Roby, James (Andy) Andress of Gardena, California, Mrs. Fred Williams of Lucerne Valley, California, Carl (Brud) Andress of Gardena, and Mrs. Bill Donham of Los Angeles, California. All the children were present for the celebration.

Mrs. Andress, who is 68, was born at Gladewater, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Dillingham. She was married to Mr. Andress in Comanche in 1907. Mr. Andress was born in 1885 at Rusk. Hamlin has been the couple's home since 1912.

Members of the house party were daughters-in-law of the couple, Mrs. Marvin Andress and Mrs. James Andress. Others in the house party were Mrs. Robert Fowler, Mrs. H. D. Burton and Mrs. Don Hymer.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth with a deep gold border. Bronze disbuds with yellow and bronze pompom chrysanthemums flanked with gold glittered "50's" centered the table.

Kim Lea Andress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Andress of Abilene, made the fourth generation present for the affair.

Attendees included all the children and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Andress of Breckenridge; Mrs. Grace Holder of Hollywood, California; Naomi Mayfield and husband, Herman Mayfield, of Roby; Mr. and Mrs. James (Andy) Andress of Gardena, California; Sybil Williams and husband, Fred, of Lucerne Valley, California; Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Brud) Andress of Gardena; LaNelle Donham and husband, Dr. William Donham, of Los Angeles; two absentees were a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl Andress, formerly Louise Fowler, and Fred Williams, husband of Sybil Williams of Lucerne.

These grandchildren were present: Thurman Andress and Tony Andress, children of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Andress; Marie Mayfield and Peggy Mayfield, children of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mayfield; James Andress and Stephen Andress, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Andress; Tommy, Carla, Susan and James Frederick Williams, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams of Lucerne Valley; Linda Andress, Pamela and Patricia, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Andress.

And a great-grandchild, Kim Lea Andress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Andress of Abilene. In his living room they shook hands. After an embarrassed silence, one of them said: "Well, Mrs. Tyler, I wish you all you wishes me."

"And who's saying nasty things now?" snapped Mrs. Tyler.

MIND READER.

After a great deal of trouble, the minister of a country church succeeded in reconciling two old women who had been quarreling for years. He even induced them to meet under the parsonage roof.

In his living room they shook hands. After an embarrassed silence, one of them said:

"Well, Mrs. Tyler, I wish you all you wishes me."

"And who's saying nasty things now?" snapped Mrs. Tyler.

USE LUKEWARM WATER.

Lukewarm water is better than cold water to remove sand from spinach leaves.

USE SAW ON SQUASH.

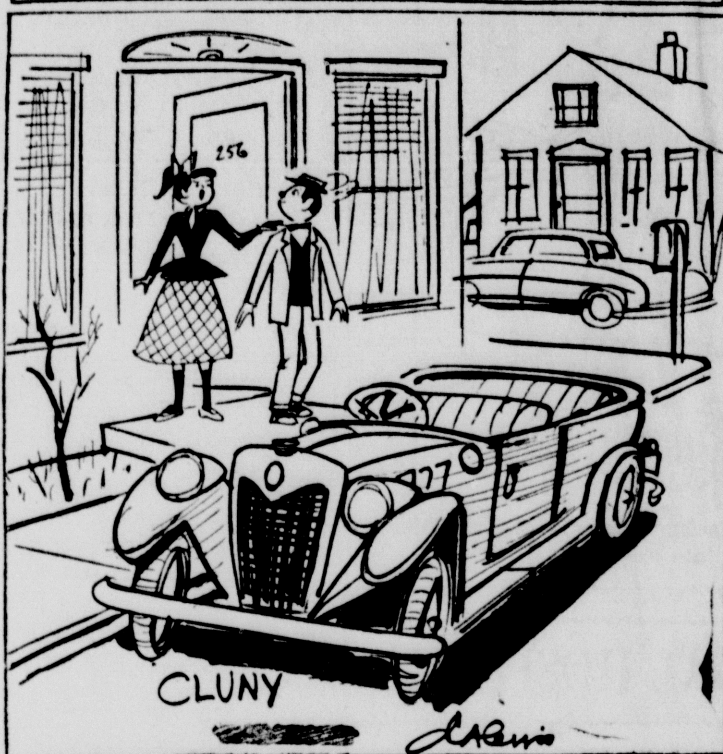

A meat saw does a neat job of cutting a hard-shelled squash and is safer to use than a knife or cleaver, which may skid.

KEEP SWEATER SHAPE.

Before laundering a sweater, run a line of basting stitches through the ribbed neckline and cuffs to prevent their stretching.

"Just a minute—how far are we driving? I want to know how much mad-money to take along!"

New Magic Offered in Modern Homes That Meet Demands of Tomorrow

This is the age of unreason. But don't let it fool you. Things aren't what they seem, at all. Take the home, for instance.

Men are the planners for the little cottage or big manse that women spend their lives in, and thereby is the snag.

Women want more closets, handier work space, nursery centers, recreation space, laundry centers in ordinary homes and apartments—not just in show place establishments and in ads. But what do the men give them meanwhile? Picture windows.

Ah, yes, but just wait until 1976, one group urges.

At that time, they predict, your bedroom will feature radiant panels suspended above the bed to keep you comfortable without blankets. The bed will push into the wall when you aren't sleeping in it. There will be a TV screen in the bedroom so that Mom may check on Junior in the nursery while she reclines.

There'll be a television telephone in the kitchen so Mom can keep tabs on Dad all day, if she likes. An electronic device will enable her to plan menus, specify the number of servings for each meal and select the time when it will be automatically prepared and served. Bed sheets, table linens, dishes and cooking utensils will all be the disposable kind, so there will be no storage problems. (That's the way they solved that one).

Oh, yes, if Junior gets out of hand, all you do is push a button.

Out comes an electronic retractable padder to do the spanking job for the lazy or bashful parent.

A new light source will make its appearance, too—electronic light. It will be panels no thicker than window glass that will line ceiling and three walls, one company predicts. Two control knobs will help you adjust to any level of brightness.

But what have we got coming up now?

Some people are enjoying the new electronic ranges and futuristic type kitchens that contain every type of electric appliance that will do almost everything except shop for the food. And more of this atomic age equipment will be on hand soon.

One home shown recently is built with attention to conversation and entertaining. The ceiling is high in the middle and low around the sides so that tete-a-tetes will be cosier. The fireplace has a polyester resin bonded to bricks above it, and around it the low-built ceiling gives the illusion of more space.

There is more concentration on tranquil room settings. Medical researchers recently showed a room designed for "peace of mind" guaranteed, as one doctor put it, to soothe "harried emotions."

You may achieve it, the experts say, by avoiding use of two different soft or cool colors together, as these will only irritate one more, hardly a desired reaction after a tense day. Red speeds the reactions, but leads to nervousness, they claim. Blue is quieting but may be depressing after long periods of time. Avoid novelty, heavy nubby fabrics or highly contrasting textures if you are the nervous type.

New colors will be to the liking of nerve specialists. Expert Beatrice West predicts that citron, flame, aqua and clear Caribbean shades will lead the color palette in home furnishings. Hyacinth blue is the new popular hue. Beige tones will outsmart grays.

At windows we will have scaled, hemmed and tasseled pull shades that will not give us that closed-in feeling. There are the new silhouette lace type draw curtains especially for the large picture window, says designer Soulah Charlat, who utilizes lace tablecloth looms to give homemakers 15-foot width curtains for larger windows.

"New Tablet Relieves 'Hot Flashes,' Irritation From Change-Of-Life Without Costly Shots!"

Science offers women new freedom from much misery of change-of-life, thanks to an amazing tablet developed especially to relieve such functional discomforts. Doctors report sensational results using this home treatment alone — And no costly injections!

State Capitol NEWS

By Vern Sanford,
Manager, Texas Press Association

Austin—Austin is in its every-other-January whirl. Inaugural festivities of the 15th will climax two weeks of fanfare traditional to the premier of a new state administration.

Stepped-up tempo in the capitol began New Year's Day when scores of new officials took the oath of office. It redoubled this week as gavel banged in another Legislature.

Next week thousands more will arrive to "dance in the new governor." Their 1957 inaugural invitations are unusually elaborate—gold embossed and purple tassel. Forty thousand were printed.

Other arrangements are similarly lavish. An hour-long parade will precede the high noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the capitol. In the afternoon there will be a band concert, then a reception at the capitol. That evening Governor and Mrs. Price Daniel and Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ben Ramsey will lead the grand march of state officials and their wives at the chief inaugural ball at the Gregory gymnasium. From there the official party will make a round of the four other halls over town.

Citizens of Austin pick up the check for this bi-annual spree. Estimated cost this year: $15,000.

Land Commissioner Earl Rudder begins his first elective term with a re-organized board.

Sworn in with Rudder were William Gassett, El Campo banker, and L. E. Page of Carthage, former state commander of the American Legion.

A new constitutional amendment dropped the governor and attorney general as ex-officio board members. Instead, the governor is required to appoint two "citizens at large," one versed in finance, the other in veterans' affairs.

Board members immediately went to work on the new $100,000,000 bond issue for veterans' land buying as authorized in the same amendment.

New Attorney General Will Wilson promised to "consistently support state sovereignty" in cases where federal-state authority is at issue.

Wilson said his office would seek to protect school officials and students from violence and intimidation stemming from desegregation efforts.

He also promised to push completion of the Duval County and veterans' land cases begun by his predecessor, John Ben Shepperd.

Will Wilson's resignation as Supreme Court justice last summer touched off a chain reaction.

Results: James R. Norvell of San Antonio is the new Supreme Court justice. He was elected.

H. D. Barrow of Jourdantown was appointed by Governor Shivers to succeed Norvell as associate justice of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio.

John F. May of Karnes City was appointed by Shivers to succeed Barrow as judge of the 81st District Court.

Richard L. Dobie Jr. of Cotulla was appointed to succeed May as 11th District attorney.

Governor Shivers also named L. D. Ratliff of Spur as judge of 10th District Court. And more than a score of others were appointed to state agencies, commissions and college boards.

Another appointee, John Osorio of Austin, was elected chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners immediately after taking office as a member.

Also in the swearing-in news, through a novel coincidence, were two old hands. Supreme Court Justice Robert Calvert administered the oath to State Comptroller Robert Calvert. No kin.

He will be general counsel for extensive West Texas and New Mexico oil and banking interests. And definitely no more politics, said Shepperd, who didn't run for re-election. He said he returned more than $11,000 sent him in one day only, for a U. S. Senate campaign.

A separate department to oversee sale of securities has been recommended to Governor Allan Shivers by a committee he named to study the matter several months ago.

Securities are now regulated by divisions of the secretary of state's office and the Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Broader power for the state to deny or revoke licenses was also recommended.

Last minute efforts are underway to firm up recommendations to the Legislature for financing Texas water storage facilities.

A water use tax has been approved by the Texas Water Resources Committee. A proposal to levy taxes on fishermen has been shelved.

Sportsmen went gunning for the latter measure at a public hearing. They said the proposed levies on boats, motors and licenses would fall on a few to benefit all; would discriminate against sporting equipment dealers; and would divert customers to other states.

Chairman George Parkhouse of Dallas conceded later that the boating and fishing tax was dead—at least for the time being.

Given approval was a water use tax which would require a constitutional amendment. Uses subject to the tax would include irrigation and hydro-electric power, as well as others. Expected revenue was figured at nearly $2,000,000 annually.

Senator Parkhouse said he would also seek diversion of about $5,000,000 a year from farm-to-market road funds.

Short Snorts—President Eisenhower, slated to visit West Texas on his "drouth tour" next week, likely will find plenty of dust.

U. S. Department of Agriculture reports improved pasturage due to rains in the eastern two-thirds of the state, but downhill conditions in the west. . . . Texas Railroad Commission set the state's January oil allowable at 3,421,058 barrels a day, same as for December. State-wide production remains at 16 days. . . . Texas hunting fatalities dropped from 35 in 1955 to 18 in 1956, reports the Game and Fish Commission. Of the 1956 deaths, six were self-inflicted; 11 involved teen-agers.

ONE SURE SIGN.

The great scientist scanned the heavens through the giant telescope. Intensely absorbed in what he was studying, he remarked rather absently to his colleague: "It's going to rain tonight."

"What makes you say that?" his colleague asked excitedly.

"Corns hurt," said the scientist.

TIME HAS PASSED.

"I don't look 30, do I, dear?" she asked her husband.

"Not any more."

Mrs. Leona Jones, Area Resident 25 Years, Succumbs

Funeral services for Mrs. Leona Edith Jones, 78-year-old Hamlin resident who has lived here for a quarter of a century, were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the Calvary Baptist Church. Officiating was Rev. Calvin Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jones died Saturday in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital after a period of declining health. She had been a hospital patient for about three weeks.

Born April 1, 1879, at Mason, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wilson. She married J. M. Jones at Coleman in 1895. The couple had lived in the Hamlin community for some 25 years. She was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Interment was in the Hamlin East Cemetery under the direction of the Hamlin Funeral Home.

Surviving Mrs. Jones are her husband, J. M. Jones of Hamlin; three daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Evans of Coolidge, Arizona, Mrs. Jim Sedberry and Mrs. Lou Stinnett of Hamlin; two sisters, Mrs. W. T. Miller of Hawley and Mrs. Laura Graham of Austin; nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS.

To be successful, find out where the money is and get there as quickly as you can, and when you get there get all you can get and then get out of there with all you can get out of those who are there before those who are there get out of you all that you got there after you got there.

Drop all thought of what you do not want; then you will have to learn to give your mental power, your enthusiasm, your imagination to thought of what you do want.

Safety on Farm and Ranch Being Stressed

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council reminds farmers and ranchers of the Hamlin area that it is not too late to get a few resolutions made covering safety during the coming year.

"Don't," they say, "let a crippling or fatal accident spoil 1957 on your farm." Most accidents can be prevented, and the best preventative is the use of common sense in all farm operations.

The moment that the new viewing telephone gets into use some joker is going to put on a mask and chortle, "Guess who this is?"

Bible Study Course Underway at Sunset

A special study course on "How to Study the Bible" is being conducted this week at the Sunset Baptist Church, according to Rev. R. B. Tiner, pastor of the North Hamlin congregation.

The pastor is leading in the course, giving pointers to attendees on how to get the most from their Bible reading. The course continues through Friday evening. Everyone is welcome, says Rev. Tiner.

Lions Club Averages 89.1% Attendance at Meetings Last Year

Members of the Hamlin Lions Club had an attendance record for the year 1956 of 89.1 per cent, reported Secretary Donley Williams at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the civic group at the oil mill guest house. The club began the year with 38 active members and ended the year with 40 for a net gain of two.

January is membership month in Lions Clubs of the country, declared L. H. McBride, who was in charge of the program. He urged that names of prospective members be worked during the period.

McBride, who is zone chairman for clubs of this area, made several announcements of impending gatherings. The annual mid-winter conference of District 2-E will be held next Thursday at the Baker Hotel in Mineral Wells, to which all club officers are invited, along with their ladies. First zone meeting of the new year will be held February 12 at the Bluebonnet Hotel in Sweetwater.

President Edgar Duncan reported that a negro minstrel is being played by the club for the near future.

Guests at the Tuesday luncheon included Carl Benefield of Amarillo and Tom Lowery of Denton.

Pipers Open District Cages Tilt at Seymour

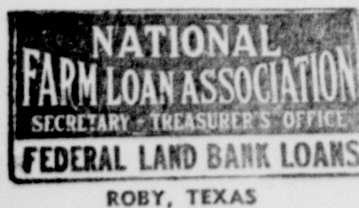

Pied Piper cagers from Hamlin High School opened their District 4-AA conference season Tuesday night against the strong Seymour crew on the Seymour courts. A fair sized delegation of boosters followed the cagers to the Baylor County capital.

Coach Harrell Blackburn's lads have looked fairly good in games so far, although the coach admits they are missing more tries for the basket than he would like, both on floor shots and from the foul line.

The A crew also was to play at Seymour Tuesday night.

Junior High Teams Win Two, Lose One With Albany Teams

Basketball teams from Hamlin Junior High School went to Albany last week for three tilts between the boys' and girls' teams of the first string and the seventh graders of the two schools.

Hamlin Mighty Mice won their game by a 23 to 16 score. High pointer for Hamlin was Wayne Boatright, who bucketed eight points.

Hamlin girls topped the Albany sissies by a 19 to 11 score. High scorer for Hamlin was Nina Jean with seven marks.

The seventh graders from Hamlin lost their tilt to Albany seventh graders by a 26 to 16 count. Jerry Duncan was high scorer for the local seventh graders with five marks.

The Albany games were the first conference tilts of the season. Hamlin teams go to Merkel next Monday night.

Hamlin High School's Piperette basketball crew lost both their tilts in last week-end's Haskell invitational basketball tournament.

Coach Dora Mitchell's girls met Megargel Thursday evening for their first tilt of the tourney, the locals dropping the game by a 52 to 25 score. Eva Wallace was high pointer with 10 points.

Saturday morning the Piperettes played the Hawley B crew and lost that game also by a 48 to 18 score. Sandra Stuart was high pointer for Hamlin with nine marks.

Half Fried Chicken Will Be Portion For Attendants at All-District Banquet

Men and high school athletes who cannot eat half a fried chicken will be considered "chicken" at the annual banquet for the All-District 4-AA football banquet, to be staged next Saturday night, January 19, at the new Hamlin High School gymnasium.

Half a fried chicken will be the portion of each attendant on the menu, along with a baked potato, green beans, cream gravy, salad vegetables, hot rolls, butter, fruit cobbler, tea and coffee. The dinner, sponsored by the Hamlin Pied Piper Booster Club, will be prepared and served cafeteria style by women of the high school cafeteria staff.

Tickets for the annual gesture of friendship by the local booster group are being sold to members of the club and other boosters of the community at $3 each. Each ticket will pay for the holder's dinner as well as that of one guest, according to Bobby Crowley, president of the booster club.

Guests will include the complete Hamlin High grid squad, members of the all-district teams from all five schools in District 4-AA, coaches and others from each of the schools. Athletes from Haskell High School, which was on probation the past season, also are being invited, Crowley says.

Piper Cagers to Play ACC and Albany

On the basketball menu of the Pied Pipers this week-end are two tilts with the Abilene Christian College High School cagers this (Thursday) evening in the new Hamlin gymnasium, and against the Albany Lions tomorrow night (Friday).

A and B boys' teams will meet in the ACC games, the B boys taking the floor first.

Friday night's encounters will feature the A boys' and girls' teams, the girls playing first.

Girls Meet Albany, Colorado City Teams

Basketball girls of Hamlin High School had games with Colorado City and Albany on tap for this week, reports Coach Dora Mitchell. Both encounters were scheduled in the new Hamlin gym.

A and B teams of girls were to play the She-Wolves Tuesday night in the new Hamlin gym. The Piperettes will play Albany here this (Thursday) evening for a game before the A boys' tilt.

Junior High Cagers Also Rans Last Week At Anson Tourney

Hamlin Junior High School cage teams were "also rans" last week-end at the Anson invitational junior tournament at the Jones County capital.

Hamlin girls lost to McCaulley by a score of 28 to 12, and to Hawley by a 19 to 12 count.

Hamlin boys were defeated by Hawley by a 33 to 20 score. Cummings tallied 10 points for Hamlin. In the second round Hamlin boys defeated Roan 30 to 16. In the consolation finals McCaulley edged Hamlin by a score of 23 to 21. Wesley Cummings led the scorers with 15 marks, while Jim Jeffrey and Kelly led McCaulley with eight points each. McCaulley advanced with a 16 to 15 victory over Albany.

McCaulley girls won the consolation championship with a win over Roan.

WHO'S GOT THE FARM?

In the days before oil was discovered in West Texas, a man stopped one night at a dry ranch near a small town. As he sized up the place, he became more and more puzzled as to how the little ranch paid its way.

At last he ventured to question the host: "How in the world do you make a go of it here?" he asked.

Pointing a finger at a man lolling on the doorstep, the host replied: "You see that fellow there? He's the hired man. He works for me, an' I can't pay 'im. In two years he gits the ranch. Then I work for 'im till I gits it back."

NO SLOUCH HIMSELF.

"Yes," the teacher explained, quite a number of plants and flowers have the prefix 'dog.' For instance, the dog rose and dog violet are well known. Can any of you name another?"

There was silence, then a happy look illuminated the face of a boy at the back of the class.

"Please, teacher," he called out, proud of his knowledge, "Collie flower!"

Cagers from Hamlin Place Seventh in Haskell Tournament

Hamlin's Pied Pipers placed seventh in the Haskell basketball invitational tournament that was held during the Christmas holidays.

The Pipers met Munday the next night and again turned back 46 to 34. Don Adair hit nine points for Hamlin, and Ed Shields made eight, while Elliott was high for Munday with 10 points.

Wienert was the opponent in the third game of the tournament and the first victim as Hamlin beat that crew 36 to 27. John Richey led the scoring for Hamlin with 10 points, followed by Charles Jenkins with nine points.

Dee Prewit received an award for being selected to the all-tournament of the Haskell tourney.

The Ranch Wagon

FIVE NEW FORD glamour wagons long, low and loaded with Go!

Leave it to the station wagon leader to make the big news for '57! And what news! Wagons so big, so full of fine car prestige that you'll wonder how it can be done at low Ford prices.

If your choice is the Country Squire, you'll be proud to pull up at the finest places in this new glamour wagon with its wood-like trim.

If your needs call for a 6-passenger wagon with four doors, you'll love the new Country Sedan. It has almost nine feet of loadspace—nearly a foot more than ever before.

There's still another 4-door Country Sedan. It has the extra third seat for 9-passenger room. And, as in all Ford wagons for '57, you have the new single-control handle which opens both the wrap-around liftgate and tailgate with one motion. And they can't be opened from inside!

There's good news, too, about Ford's popular Ranch Wagon. This 6-passenger, 2-door model features Ford's new subhooded tones, and smart interiors which defy muddy little shoes and drippy chocolate cones.

In the wonderful way that Ford can take a fine thing and make it even finer, the Del Rio Ranch Wagon goes beyond the Ranch Wagon in style, fabrics and trim.

Better take a Ford wagon for a spin. You'll agree that for styling it's a sweetheart . . . for work and power, it's an obedient slave!

New '57 Fords have toughest shakedown cruise in history!

The '57 Ford broke 458 national and international records from 1 kilometer to 50,000 miles at Bonneville, Utah. For 50,000 miles, two '57 Fords averaged over 107 and 108 mph respectively. This time included all pit stops . . . the greatest endurance feat of all time!

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By Tex Easley, AP Washington Correspondent

Washington—Law suits stemming from the record total of automobile deaths Christmas season and the heavy New Year's toll will point up the need for more federal judges, a Dallas man says.

Elmore Whitehurst, now handling administrative problems of the federal judiciary system from his headquarters in the Supreme Court, noted the relationship.

"The dockets of the federal courts everywhere are crowded," he commented. "Suits against insurance companies arising out of accidents contribute greatly to the heavy case loads."

Observing that more than 700 persons were killed in highway accidents during the Christmas season alone, Whitehurst remarked that many legal contests stemming from these undoubtedly would get into federal courts. The backlog of cases on most dockets means it might be 1961 before these accident cases came up for decision, he said.

Asked whether or not commissioners might not be deputized to pass on such suits, Whitehurst said that so far no one has come up with substitute procedures which would fully guarantee the citizen the rights and protection inherent in the trial system provided by the courts.

The federal judicial conference, said Whitehurst, has recommended to Congress that it create 35 additional federal district judgeships over the nation and two additional circuit court judgeships. Among the proposed new district judgeships are three in Texas—one each in the northern, southern and western districts.

He remarked that the northern Texas district docket would be crowded more than it is but for

Refunds of Gasoline Taxes Must Be Shown in Farmers' Income Returns

Farmers and ranchers of the Hamlin area are being advised of provisions for refunds on the federal excise tax on gasoline for the past year. A release to The Herald declares:

If you file your return on the accrual method, any refund of the federal excise tax on gasoline to which you are entitled must be accrued in the taxable year the gasoline is used. Such accrued refund may then be deducted from your expenses for gasoline, thus decreasing your deductible business expenses. If you prefer you may include the accrued refund in gross income and deduct the full amount of your expenses for gasoline.

If you file your return on the cash method, you may handle your gasoline tax refunds in either of two ways. One method is to deduct the entire purchase price of your gasoline in the taxable year paid and include the entire amount of the gasoline tax refund in gross income in the taxable year it is received. While this method has the advantage of simplicity, there is a possibility that it may cost you a small amount of extra tax. In most cases, however, the tax will be the same under this simple method as it is under the more complicated method described below.

Refunds of federal excise tax

the fact that 87-year-old Judge William Atwell has continued to serve on the bench voluntarily even though he is technically retired, and because Judge Joe Estes has achieved a "prodigious output" in disposition of cases.

Omnibus legislation creating a score or more of new federal judgeships over the country is certain to come up for early consideration in the new Congress, which convened January 3. Such a measure was approved by both the House and Senate judiciary committees last session, but failed to get floor action before adjournment.

Helping lighten the work load of the U. S. tax court here is an old-timer among Texans in Washington, Judge Eugene Black. A member of Congress from East Texas from 1915 to 1929 when he was appointed to the court, the 77-year-old judge technically was retired in 1953 and a successor named. Voluntarily he was continued to serve—at no extra expense to taxpayers; he receives only his retired pay, which is the same as he had been earning.

Booklet on Irrigation Available to Farmers

More and more farmers of the Hamlin area are becoming interested in the possibilities of irrigation for their crops, declares the county agent, Bill Lehmborg.

Helpful suggestions are contained in the recently issued publication, "Thinking of Irrigation," released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Copies are available through the offices of the county agent. It was prepared especially for those contemplating an irrigation system for their farms.

JUST WHO'S CRAZY?

A new patient at a sanitarium for the mildly deranged complained to the attending physician:

"What's the idea of sticking me in a room with that crazy guy over there?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said the doctor placatingly; "it's the only room we have available just now. Is your roommate troublesome?"

"Why, the guy's crazy! He keeps looking around and saying, 'No lions, no tigers, no elephants'—and all the time the room's full of 'em!"

MAE JAMES, long time and beloved teacher in the primary grades of Hamlin Schools, is in California for an extended visit with relatives and friends. She retired from the teaching profession in Hamlin last year after more than 35 years of teaching. She can count by the scores now grown people with families who have been her pupils through the years.

A postal card to The Herald from Miss James declares that she is enjoying her visit. "Had a wonderful Christmas and New Year season," her card reveals.

IN VIRGINIA when a 93-year-old man married a 63-year-old woman, who was the step-daughter of his daughter, who had married his new wife's father, he became the son-in-law of his daughter, and a son-in-law of his own son-in-law. He also became the father-in-law of his own father-in-law. In addition, the new bride became the mother-in-law to her own father, while she and her husband's daughter became each other's stepmother.

The bridegroom and the wife's father now are step-sons to each other, while the new bride and her husband's daughter are also step-daughters to each other.

Pass the sleeping pill!

PRODUCED in this column some years ago was the following literary masterpiece, which we figure may have been missed by some of the younger generation—or maybe we have a new reader of this column:

The cow is a female quadruped with a udder and a udder face. She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk.

The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When this one is filled, the cow retires to a quiet place where her ill manners will occasion no comment and devotes herself to regurgitating. The raw material thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of her face is pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach. There it is converted into cow.

The young cow is called a calf and is used in the manufacture of chicken salad. The male cow is called bull and is lassoed in Texas, fought in Mexico and shot almost everywhere.

A slice of cow is worth eight cents on the cow, 14 cents in the hands of the packers and $2.40 at the nearest restaurant.

SUCCESS, declares a Hamlin business man, is a wonderful thing. But it has its drawbacks, he avers. For example, he says one of friends has concluded that:

Success nowadays is making more money to pay the taxes which you would not be paying if you had not made so much money already.

HERMAN McBRIDE relates a true story about Stanley Carmichael and Arlie Casale going on a duck hunting trip recently, after which they expected the other fellow to furnish the meat for a duck dinner.

He says the two Hamlin ninrod experts had spent most of an afternoon blasting into the flocks of ducks as they flew over and as they sat a few feet away on a favorite pond. After shooting up several boxes of shells they still had failed to bring down a single duck—or a married one.

Arlie says to Stanley: "Well, we are nearly out of shells, Stan. We might as well go on home."

"Wait, Casale," Stan says, "we might as well finish our shells and miss a few more."

As a postscript to his story Herman says Arlie ran over a duck on their flight home in the Casale car.

A SMART TWERP of Hamlin has some stock-in-trade questions which he uses when the conversation of his circle gets to fragging. Some of them follow:

Q.—How can you tell the score of a ball game before it is played?
A.—It's always 0 to 0 before the game is played.

Q.—Which side of the hot dog is the left side?
A.—The side that isn't eaten.

Q.—Why can't a man's hand be over 11 inches?
A.—Because if it were 12 inches it would be a foot.

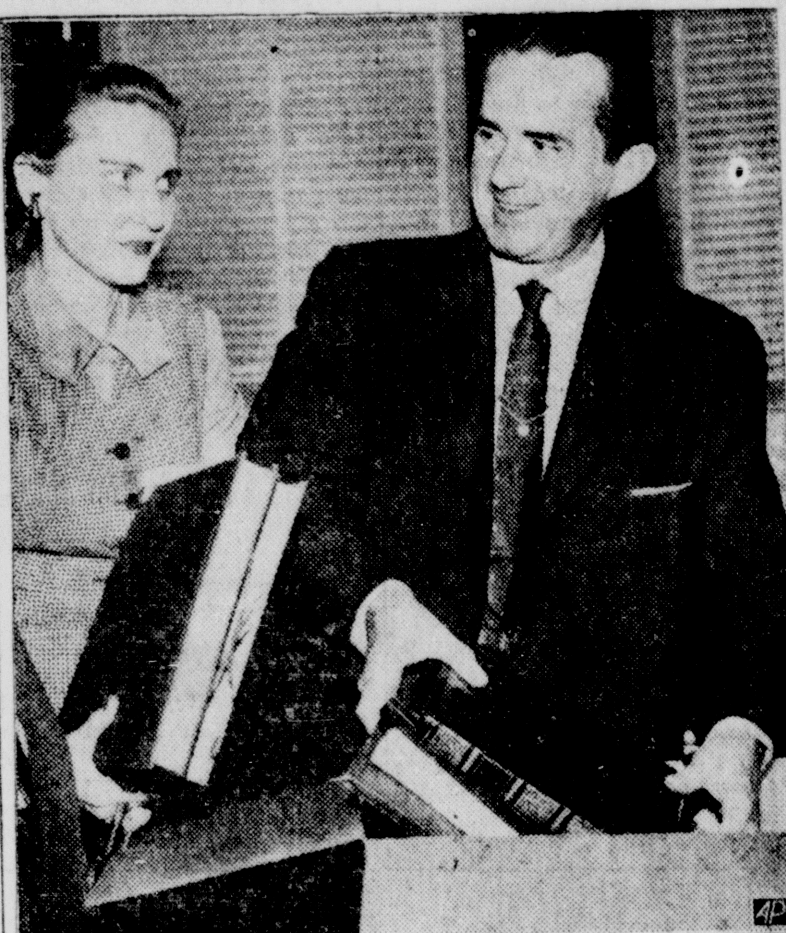

Anson Methodists To Feast as Guests Of Local Church

Anson Methodists will feast on a free meal in Hamlin within a few days—thanks to members of the First Methodist Church, who were losers in a three-month church and Sunday School attendance contest between the two congregations that closed with the month of December.

Statistics in the three-month contest showed that the Anson First Methodists racked up a total pointage of 7,695 to 7,339 for the Hamlin Methodists, according to Rev. Darris L. Egger, pastor of the local church. The figures were tabulated from attendance at the Sunday School, morning and evening church services, mid-week service and Methodist Men's meetings.

The Hamlin church will provide the meat, drinks and bread for the two-church banquet, which has been tentatively set for the evening of January 16. Members will bring vegetables, salads and dessert.

The Anson group will arrange for the program for the affair, it is announced.

PACKING UP—Governor Allan Shivers packs his personal belongings in preparation for leaving office on January 15 when Governor-Elect Price Daniel takes over. Johnnie Dennis, the governor's personal secretary, helps with packing the books.

Hamlin Area Gets Money for New Road Projects This Year

Loop West from Highway 83 to T-P Camp Slated

Good portions of the right-of-way for two small highway projects in the Hamlin section, north and west of Hamlin, had been secured early this week, according to Fisher County officials, where the road building is scheduled for the next several months.

Designated by the Texas Highway Commission as some extra projects, in addition to already-in-the-mill routes, the two highway projects would give the northern and western sections of Fisher County, which are actually in the Hamlin trade territory, some much needed roads. They would be especially appreciated during wet spells when some sections of the present routes become almost impassable.

The first project would be about 10 miles of farm-to-market type paved highway extending from Highway 83, five miles north of Hamlin, west by the Y-6 Ranch to the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company camp and gas plant, then south to Highway 92.

Second project is an eight-mile link between the Celotex Corporation plant, southwest of Hamlin, west to Royston. This likewise would provide a needed farm-to-market road making a circuitous route from Hamlin to Royston.

In connection with the latter project, however, a number of citizens of Hamlin and those living directly west of Hamlin have prepared a petition to the highway commission asking that the route be changed to go west from the Carlton Blacksmith Shop, by the Hamlin Country Club and General Crude Oil Company camp to Royston. This petition will be presented soon to the commission at Austin.

Money for these two projects has been provided by funds previously designated for other highway construction in the state, for which right-of-way was not provided by counties where it was due to be spent, according to Jake Roberts of Abilene, district highway engineer.

Roughage Program Extended by Federal Government in Texas

The roughage program for Texas has been extended in all 238 counties previously designated, including Jones, Fisher, Stonewall, Shackelford, Taylor and Nolan, Walter T. McKay, state Farmers Home Administration director, announced this week.

County committees in all designated counties are being advised that they may now accept applications for a supply of roughage feed to carry basic livestock through March 15, 1957.

FIRE CHIEF—Jack White, Hamlin garage man (above), was re-elected chief of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department at the annual business meeting of the group Thursday night. He has just completed his first term in the position.

Jack White Again Named President By Firemen Group

Jack White, Hamlin garage man, was re-elected president of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department at the annual business meeting of the group last Thursday evening at the fire station. He recently completed his first term in the office.

Other officers for the ensuing year were named as follows: James Josey, first assistant chief; Pete Bond, second assistant chief; Bryant Conner, president; Lee Hastings, vice president; J. O. Murphree, secretary-treasurer; Bob Westmoreland, assistant secretary-treasurer; Rev. Victor Ortiz, chaplain; D. M. Perrin, captain, first team; Earl Johnson, captain, second team; Jimmy Lee Hastings, mascot. On the pension board Lee Hastings was named for a three-year term and Earl Johnson renamed for two years.

The election of officers and other business were conducted following the annual firemen's feed at the Bluebonnet Cafe.

It was reported at the session that the fire department spent a little over $200 on the Christmas cheer activity. The boys delivered groceries, toys and shoes to several needy families Christmas Eve. Twenty-three toys were given for the gesture by members of the Lions Club.

The firemen played host to about 500 children of the community at a Christmas picture show at the Ferguson Theater, when comedies were shown by the theater management free. Favors were given by the firemen to each child in addition to special prizes of a bicycle, doll and football presented by merchants.

Hamlin Rotary Club Pushes Poll Tax Drive

A campaign to get Hamlin area voters to secure their poll tax receipts before the deadline on January 31 is being conducted in the vicinity by Hamlin Rotary Club.

Posters, printed in red, were placed in windows and other conspicuous spots of business houses of the city over the week-end pointing to the poll tax paying deadline. Application blanks for the poll tax receipts, which must be mailed to the tax assessor-collector at Anson, also were left with the business houses.

Members of the civic club point to the fact that several important elections are scheduled during the coming year, to say nothing of the citizen's obligation to exercise his right to vote all the time.

Bank's Statement Reflects Stability Of Hamlin Section

Despite continuing drought conditions in the Hamlin territory that definitely affect the economy of the farmer and rancher of the territory, the area remains in a healthy financial condition generally.

This is reflected in the official bank statement of the Farmers & Merchants National Bank for condition at the close of business on December 31, 1956, released last week.

Deposits totaled $4,614,862.05 in the statement, which was some $270,000 more than the previous statement for September 26. The total figure compares with the total of five years ago of $4,670,066.03.

Loans, also a barometer of the section's stability, were down from the previous statement, being listed at $1,262,349.81 in the current statement compared with the last report of $1,426,634.66, showing considerable pay-off during the past 90 days.

Quick assets of the Hamlin bank in the December 31 statement are shown as $1,626,759.14 in U. S. government bonds, $303,132.96 in CCC loans, $100,000 in bills of exchange on grain, and $1,246,121.04 in cash on hand and due from banks.

On the liability side of the statement, capital and surplus are retained at $209,000. Undivided profits were listed at $140,487.59, and reserves showed at $6,958.55.

Negro Minstrel Being Planned by Lions

Presentation of a negro minstrel is being planned for the near future by members of the Hamlin Lions Club. It was announced this week by President Edgar Duncan of the club.

The Lions have presented several minstrels in the past, the last one having been six years ago. Specially rented costumes will be used to give unusual color to the show, Duncan said.

Proceeds from the minstrel will be used for club projects, major one being assistance for people with eyesight deficiencies.

Joe Ray Rosenbaum To Get NTSC Degree

Joe Ray Rosenbaum of Hamlin is one of 253 seniors who have applied for the bachelor's degree at North Texas State College this semester, Vice President A. M. Sample reports in a release from Denton to The Herald.

Winter commencement exercises will be held at 3:00 p. m. January 30.

A production management major, Young Rosenbaum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Rosenbaum of Route 1, and husband of the former Marylee Roland of Hamlin. He is a member of the Management Club and the Society for Advancement of Management.

EARLY ARRIVALS—Representative B. H. The three were among the early arrivals preparing for the opening of the fifty-fifth Legislature at Austin.

New Grain Sorghum Hybrids Adapted For Area Offer Higher Early Yields

Seven grain sorghum hybrids, developed cooperatively by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be available to farmers of the Hamlin area and elsewhere in Texas for planting in 1957. These hybrids are the result of research work which began in 1921 and are the first practical hybrids to be released from these studies.

The seven hybrids, RS 590, Texas 601, RS 610, Texas 611, Texas 620, RS 650 and Texas 660, are the best of several hundred produced and tested during the past 20 years at the Lubbock and Chillicothe stations. Tests were conducted last year throughout Texas and all have thus been grown under limited field demonstrations. The plant breeders for the Texas Station say still better hybrids with improved adaptation to various growing conditions can be expected in the near future.

Farmers are advised to plant one or more of the hybrids adapted to their areas and to make comparisons with standard varieties. Further, it is suggested, that only certified hybrid seed be planted, an insurance that seed planted are correctly labeled.

Planting seed of these seven hybrids will be red. In general, the higher the hybrid number, the later is its maturity, but none is as late as Plainsman. Yields 20 to 40 per cent greater than varieties of the same maturity under most conditions can be expected. The plants show superior seedling vigor, rapid growth and uniform height and maturity. Since the hybrids have larger heads and are often slightly taller than the varieties, occasionally more lodging may occur in the hybrids. Cultural practices for the sorghum hybrids are the same as recommended for sorghum varieties.

Construction on Project to Start By February 1

Expansion of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital, which has been in the planning stage for months, this week loomed as a soon-to-be-realized possibility with sending out of specifications for the additions and calling for bids on the $60,000 project for next Thursday, January 17, according to W. L. Fletcher Jr., president of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association.

Sixteen general contractors had called for plans and specifications Tuesday, Fletcher said, which indicates the bidding will be highly competitive. Separate contracts are being sought on the plumbing, air conditioning and electrical work.

The plans, prepared by F. G. Olds Company, architectural firm of Abilene, calls for an east wing to the present edifice, repairing of sections of the present building and rearranging of several rooms into patient rooms, a dining room and other facilities.

Doctors' offices, now in the east end of the present structure, will be moved to the new east wing, which also will house new laboratory and clinical rooms. The reception room, now in the center of the main building, also will be moved to the new east wing, and main entrance to the hospital will be from the east instead of the south as at present.

Fletcher said that if bids come within the architects' estimates, and no other difficulties are encountered, actual construction on the project might get underway by February 1.

Ronnie Parker to Preach First Time For Methodists

Ronnie Parker, local high school senior, will officially preach his first sermon at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening, January 13. This special sermon will be in connection with Youth Day at the church, declares Rev. Darris L. Egger, pastor.

Methodist Youth Fellowship will be in charge of the Sunday evening worship service. Bill Murf, vice president, will be in charge. Rev. Weldon Crowley, youth director, will direct the singing. Linda Carlton is to arrange for special music. Ushers for the service will be David Bonds, Darris Egger Jr., Bill Richey and Jimmy Shivers.

Young Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parker, made public Sunday morning his intention to enter special Christian service. Ronnie has been active in the Youth Fellowship and in his statement Sunday morning further strengthened this: "For some time I have felt that the Lord has some special work for me to do. Last week I knew for sure. This morning I am dedicating my life to the Lord's work."

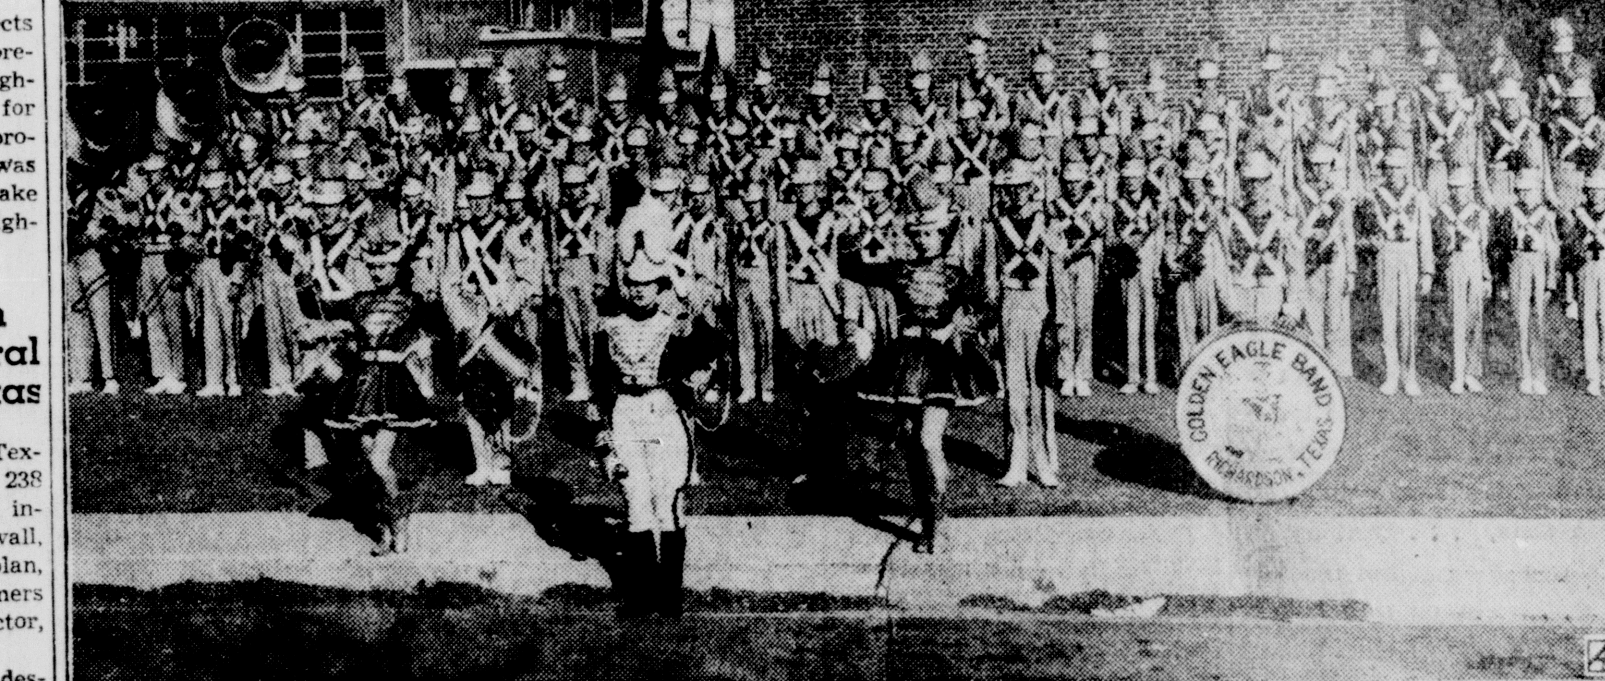

A special invitation is given to all in the community to come and hear Ronnie Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock, Egger announces.

Considered newsworthy in the Hamlin community 10 years ago were the following items, reproduced from The Hamlin Herald dated January 10, 1947:

The City of Hamlin is sponsoring a small municipal airport north of town, which will be opened soon. A flying school will be started at the airport.

Longest cold spell the community has experienced in many years seemed at an end first of the week as things began to thaw out. The mercury stood below the freezing point for 11 full days.

Earl Lee Smith, Hamlin negro, was charged by the grand jury in session this week at Anson with the murder of another negro on January 27. Two other Hamlin negroes were charged with forgery of checks on several Hamlin business men.

Deposits at the Farmers & Merchants National Bank have reached an all-time high of $3,588,078 in the official statement at the close of business December 31.

Oil activity has picked up again in the Hamlin territory after a lull of several days during the Christmas holidays.

The Pied Piper basketball crew of Hamlin High School split two games during the past week to hold second place in the district standings. They lost to Throckmorton 20 to 16 and defeated the Albany Lions 29 to 10.

FIVE YEARS AGO.

News items of interest in the Hamlin community five years ago included the following, which are condensed from the issue of The Hamlin Herald dated January 11, 1952:

New minister of the Hamlin Church of Christ, Warder K. Novak, arrived here this week with his family from Clarksville.

The big gas well on the Tarlton Wellingham place, 10 miles west of Hamlin, which has been running unabated since Christmas Day when it blew it, was brought under control Monday by special well control experts. It had flowed an estimated 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day for the 10-day period.

Deposits at the Farmers and Merchants National Bank hit a new high on December 31 in the official statement of the banking institution, released this week, when the total hit $5,234,494.96.

Jones County led the Central West Texas area in oil well completions during 1951 with 22 pools. Hamlin Chamber of Commerce completed a good year for 1951, reports President Carl Murrell, who reviewed several major projects accomplished, when directors of the organization met Tuesday morning in their first regular session of the new year.

ONE YEAR AGO.

From the files of a year ago the following news briefs are taken from the issue of The Hamlin Herald dated January 6, 1956:

Insured fire losses during 1955 for the City of Hamlin totaled $45,166.81, according to T. W. (Mickey) McGuire, city fire marshal. This is the biggest annual loss since 1950, when the Midwest Cooperative Oil Mill burned.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cooley, long time residents of the Hamlin community, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday by staging open house.

Rainfall for 1955 amounted to 22.65 inches, according to gauging of the government gauge at the city pump station. This is more than two inches over the 14-year average of 19.96 inches.

Area Motorists Urged by Safety Man To Winterize Their Driving Habits

"Your driving habits must be winterized along with your car!" Hamlin area motorists were given this warning this week by E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president of the Texas Safety Association, as he launched the safe winter driving program of the Texas Safety Association.

"The winter season with its rain, sleet, snow and ice has always increased traffic hazards," McFadden said. "But the driver's knowledge of how to drive in winter can mean the difference between a low or a high traffic toll."

McFadden pointed out that in addition to winterizing his car, a driver should heed these recommendations made by the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards: Accept your responsibility. Adapt your driving to road conditions. Slippery streets call for skilled handling of the car. Use good tires and use reinforced tire chains on snow and ice. They cut stopping distances by about half, and increase traction four to seven times. Always follow other vehicles at a safe distance.

Keep your windshield and windows clear. Clean snow and ice off your windshield and other windows on the side and back of your car. Be sure your windshield wipers, heater and defroster are working properly.

Get the "feel of the road." Try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic.

Pump your brakes with a fast up-and-down motion to slow down or stop. Jamming on your brakes is almost certain to lock your wheels and throw your car into a skid.

Drivers of new cars with automatic transmissions, power brakes and power steering were given a special word of caution.

"In such cars," McFadden said, "the accelerator is the control. Steering and braking should be done smoothly and with care, and the driver should ease up on the gas pedal at the slightest sign of a skid."

McFadden advised motorists to practice smooth driving the year round if they hope to have the habit of driving smoothly when the roads are slippery with snow or ice.

"A good slogan for motorists this month," he said, "would be, 'To survive, winterize before you drive!'"

KEEPING FOREIGN POLICY CONSISTENT IS VITAL

In discussing America's foreign policies, a thoughtful editor recently pointed out to us the difficulties which confront our nation as a result of elections every four years—and how it is impossible to establish any long-range policy when drastic changes in attitude and approach are forever threatening because of a change in administration.

Although efforts have been made by all administrations to build a bi-partisan foreign policy, this has never worked out practically because new men in charge of such policies are appointed by each new president.

This editor suggested that some plan might be established where foreign policy and our foreign relations would be handled by a permanent, non-political group of experts whose term of office would not be interrupted by any change in the party in power. He felt that a group of top men, who could devote their lives to long-term planning on foreign affairs, without any political incentives or interference, could build for our country a foreign policy which would be far superior to anything we have ever attained.

His idea was that such a foreign policy group might be set up in a manner similar to the U. S. Supreme Court—possibly with the group being directly elected by the people, but with no term-of-office expiration unless limited by age, health, etc.

We think this suggestion is worth thinking about. Just how it might be implemented and what objections there might be to such a set-up have not occurred to us and are beyond our province. But, as we have followed the recent political campaign, and realized how debate over foreign policy must drastically lessen respect for and understanding of our foreign policy by other governments, it would seem a great step forward if we could devise a foreign relations set-up which was above politics, and which was administered by experts of unquestionable ability and reputation.

Two Ways to Look at It

No line of work is interesting or uninteresting in itself. There are two different approaches to each task. Much depends upon the amount of thought, ingenuity and effort put into it. But much more depends on the mental attitude. Our job, whether it be junk man or judge, is very much what we make it.

The following parallel statements show how a task can be made easy or hard; a joy or a drudge:

"I am a housewife, and without question I have the most interesting job in the world. My days are full of planning new things for our home, clever ways of making it more attractive for my family and my friends. See that furniture over there? I painted and decorated it myself. My only complaint is that the days are much too short to accomplish everything I have planned. My time is my own—I wouldn't trade positions with anyone."

"I am a housewife, and without question I have the most uninteresting job in the world. My life is the same year in and year out—dish washing, sweeping and dusting. It's not such hard work. I can finish it in a few hours each day—then I am bored with myself, my friends and my family the rest of the day. I wish I had an interesting job where I could meet people, exciting people who are really doing things. An ever-changing job which would keep me absorbed every minute."

"I am a ticket agent or rather a travel salesman—and I can't imagine any work more interesting. I have never been able to travel very much myself, but I get a big kick out of helping other people plan their trips. When a passenger requests information about some place with which I'm familiar, I tell him all I can, then remember the name for a little research later, to be ready for the next one. Most places—from Podunk to Pittsburgh—have a lot of interesting features. If you get to know them, I'm reading all about them, and if my plans work out, I'm actually going to see most of them some time. Yes, sir! I've certainly got an interesting job."

"I am a ticket agent, a job I wouldn't wish on my worst enemy. People ask me such absurd questions. Sometimes I think what this country needs most is better schools to teach geography. They don't know anything, and they expect me to know everything under the sun! If they would decide where ever they're going before they get to my window it certainly would save me a lot of time and trouble. And I can't see why some of them go the places they do, anyhow. Most of them are nothing but wide places in the road. I'd like to get a job where I can travel to important places myself without being bothered with other people wanting to go places."

Road of Service

When a road is once built, it is a strange thing how it collects traffic, how every year as it goes on, more and more people are found to walk thereon, and others are raised up to repair and perpetuate it, and keep it alive.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The common economic goal of the free world, to discourage communism, is removing barriers to the flow of capital. The opportunities for achieving a stronger free world and at the same time for sound investment are fabulous. By strengthening capitalism abroad, we are strengthening the free enterprise system, which is basic to our own way of life.—Norwalk, Connecticut, House

These are good jobs, too. In point of earnings, oil production and refining rank among the top industries of the nation. Fringe benefits are many and working conditions are of the best. Personnel turnover rates are low—always a good barometer of an industry's worth from the employee's standpoint. To quote Griffith once more, "... working for the oil industry is a challenge, but it offers very real rewards. ... An oil man has to know his job—or be willing to go all-out in an effort to learn. Once has has proven his ability and willingness to work, he will have the satisfaction of being a member of one of the most progressive industries on earth."

National Congress Needs Economists To Help Shape Policies, Says Babson

Members of the Congress of the nation are discussed this week by Roger W. Babson, economist and analyst, who has been a contributor to columns of The Herald for many years. He says in his release:

Now that the senators and representatives are organized, we are able to make a rough analysis of their ability and training. It appears that about three-quarters of both branches of Congress are lawyers. At first glance, this seems reasonable, as their job is to make laws; this, however, should be the work of professional clerks. The congressmen should confine their efforts to questions of policies.

Lawyers, by training, are in a poor position to determine basic policies. Lawyers are trained to win cases, whether the defendant or prosecutor is right or wrong. The very fact that there are two parties to each suit though, only one party can win, and that both sides are represented by attorneys is definite evidence that half of the attorneys are wrong! In the problem will not be permanent, but will be a mere stopgap. This shows that courageous economists are needed in international affairs as well as in domestic affairs.

The custom of selecting our ambassadors according to their wealth or their contributions to campaign funds is absolutely wicked. Such a policy may have been largely responsible for the fact that England and France acted without the knowledge of the United States or the United Nations. Ambassadors should be trained economists, which probably means career men. Representatives to the United Nations should be selected according to their knowledge of economics and their experience in deciding economic problems.

Individual, national and international prosperity depends upon the recognition of the sanctity of contracts. No individual, corporation or nation can prosper in the long run without an earnest endeavor to carry out its contracts. This is a fundamental matter in connection with the oil companies using the Suez Canal. Furthermore, a man does not need legal training in order to recognize the ten commandments. Honesty is not only the best policy, but it is the only policy upon which a reputation or a business or a nation can prosper and survive. No one nation should be allowed to interfere with the international trade vitally affecting all nations. A great need today is confidence.

Of course, in discussing the sanctity of a contract, an individual, corporation or nation is justified in knowing that the contract was not obtained dishonestly by misrepresentation, coercion or bribery. It is possible that some contracts for drilling oil were obtained under rather unsavory conditions, but no such claims have been made in connection with the high grade oil companies now suffering from the Suez dispute.

Possibly it would have been better to have had the Suez Canal contract, when originally drawn, made subject to re-negotiations similar to the re-negotiations that the oil companies have already gone through. These Suez re-negotiations could have been under the jurisdiction of a committee of accountants and economists approved by the World Court. The committee could employ an international and impartial lawyer, upon whom all parties would agree. Their decisions, however, should strengthen the importance of the sanctity of contracts and not undermine or impair same.

In closing, let me say that my appeal in this column may not do any good, but, as Congress is now organizing and as the Suez ne-eyes of a statistician, this is a very poor record. If one-half of the bridges built by engineers collapsed, something would be done about it.

Ninety per cent of the legislation today is economic. This applies to agriculture, to manufacturing, to general business, and even the pensions for individuals. There should be no gambling connected with such legislation. A table for multiplication, division or addition allows for no compromises. It is the same with policies; they are either right or wrong. They should not be settled out of court or in cloak rooms. All this means that three-quarters of the senators and representatives should be nationally recognized economists. And they should be qualified either to legislate according to economic principles or else not to legislate at all.

This principle should have been adopted when the nation was on the gold standard; but now that we are on the political standard, it is imperative. Some claim that more businessmen, bankers, manufacturers and labor leaders should take the place of these lawyers. The real need, however, is for trained and practical economists and engineers who know what is best for the nation and have the courage to vote accordingly.

Probably the Suez difficulty is due to many causes, but it was primarily a matter of politics. President Nasser of Egypt was playing politics to get the goodwill of his people while raising money to build the great Aswan Dam. Prime Minister Eden was playing politics to hold his position and not be thrown out by the Labor party. Other countries involved—possibly including the United States—were considering their heavy investments in oil. Basically, however, the Suez difficulty is an economic problem. It is not the votes involved which should be considered, but rather the tankage, distances, freight rates and other important problems of international trade. Probably the final solution will reflect a mixture of politics, statistical facts and world economics. This means that the solution of the of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Dillingham. She was married to Mr. Address in Comanche in 1907. Mr. Address was born in 1885 at Rusk. Hamlin has been the couple's home since 1912.

Members of the house party were daughters-in-law of the couple, Mrs. Marvin Address and Mrs. James Address. Others in the house party were Mrs. Robert Fowler, Mrs. H. D. Burton and Mrs. Don Hymer.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth with a deep gold border. Bronze disbuds with yellow and bronze pom-pom chrysanthemums flanked with gold glittered "50's" centered the table.

Kim Lea Address, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Address of Abilene, made the fourth generation present for the affair.

Attendees included all the children and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Address of Breckenridge; Mrs. Grace Holder of Hollywood, California; Naomi Mayfield and husband, Herman Mayfield, of Roby; Mr. and Mrs. James (Andy) Address of Gardena, California; Sybil Williams and husband, Fred, of Lucerne Valley, California; Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Brud) Address of Gardena; LaNelle Donham and husband, Dr. William Donham, of Los Angeles; two absentees were a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl Address, formerly Louise Fowler, and Fred Williams, husband of Sybil Williams of Lucerne.

Patrol Officer Kemp Speaks at Meeting of Literary Club

The Woman's Literary Club had as its guest speaker J. Ross Kemp, safety officer of the Texas Highway Patrol office at Abilene, when it met in regular session Friday afternoon in home of Mrs. Holly Toler.

The club's theme for this year is "Now Is the Time," and a part of this theme is "Driver Education," which was the keynote of the talk by Kemp. After his talk a safety film was shown, with Eudora Hawkins, public relations official of the West Texas Utilities Company, acting as projectionist.

Mrs. O. D. Roland was director of the program for the day, and she introduced Kemp.

Following the program 21 club members held a business meeting with Mrs. M. T. York, president, in charge. Mrs. Virgil Steele read the report of the last meeting. Mrs. York called a meeting of all committee heads after the club's dismissal.

MIND READER.

After a great deal of trouble, the minister of a country church succeeded in reconciling two old women who had been quarreling for years. He even induced them to meet under the parsonage roof.

In his living room they shook hands. After an embarrassed silence, one of them said:

"Well, Mrs. Tyler, I wish you all you wishes me."

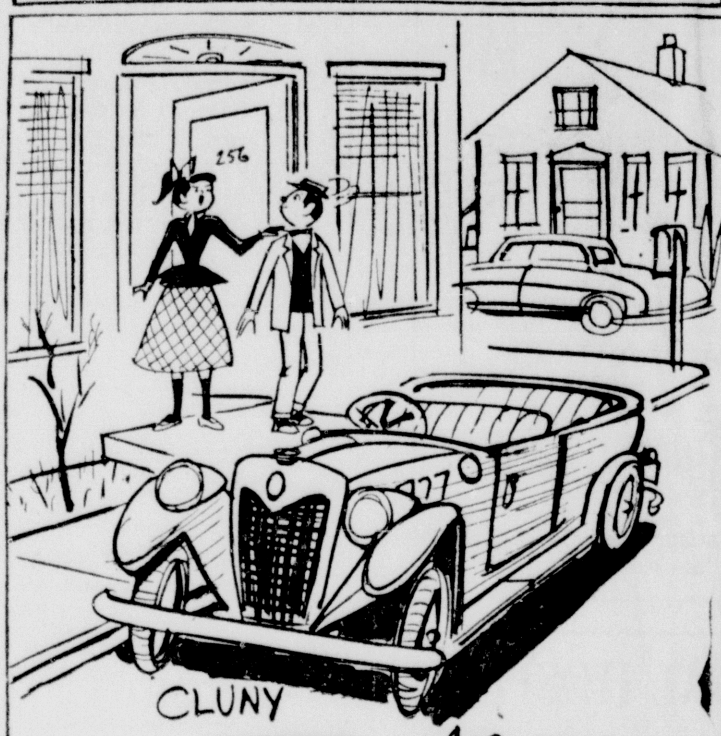

"And who's saying nasty things now?" snapped Mrs. Tyler.

New Magic Offered in Modern Homes That Meet Demands of Tomorrow

This is the age of unreason. But don't let it fool you. Things aren't what they seem, at all.

Take the home, for instance.

Men are the planners for the little cottage or big manse that women spend their lives in, and thereby is the snag.

Women want more closets, handier work space, nursery centers, recreation space, laundry centers in ordinary homes and apartments—not just in show place establishments and in ads. But what do the men give them meanwhile? Picture windows.

Ah, yes, but just wait until 1976, one group urges.

At that time, they predict, your bedroom will feature radiant panels suspended above the bed to keep you comfortable without blankets. The bed will push into the wall when you aren't sleeping in it. There will be a TV screen in the bedroom so that Mom may check on Junior in the nursery while she reclines.

There'll be a television telephone in the kitchen so Mom can keep tabs on Dad all day, if she likes. An electronic device will enable her to plan menus, specify the number of servings for each meal and select the time when it will be automatically prepared and served. Bed sheets, table linens, dishes and cooking utensils will all be the disposable kind, so there will be no storage problems. (That's the way they solved that one).

Oh, yes, if Junior gets out of hand, all you do is push a button. Out comes an electronic retractable paddler to do the spanking job for the lazy or bashful parent.

A new light source will make its appearance, too—electronic light. It will be panels no thicker than window glass that will line ceiling and three walls, one company predicts. Two control knobs will help you adjust to any level of brightness.

But what have we got coming up now?

Some people are enjoying the new electronic ranges and futuristic type kitchens that contain every type of electric appliance that will do almost everything except shop for the food. And more of this atomic age equipment will be on hand soon.

One home shown recently is built with attention to conversation and entertaining. The ceiling is high in the middle and low around the sides so that tete-a-tetes will be cosier. The fireplace has a polyester resin bonded to bricks above it, and around it the low-built ceiling gives the illusion of more space.

There is more concentration on tranquil room settings. Medical researchers recently showed a room designed for "peace of mind" guaranteed, as one doctor put it, to soothe "harried emotions."

You may achieve it, the experts say, by avoiding use of two different soft or cool colors together, as these will only irritate one more, hardly a desired reaction after a tense day. Red speeds the reactions, but leads to nervousness, they claim. Blue is quieting but may be depressing after long periods of time. Avoid novelty, heavy nubby fabrics or highly contrasting textures if you are the nervous type.

New colors will be to the liking of nerve specialists. Expert Beatrice West predicts that citron, flame, aqua and clear Caribbean shades will lead the color palette in home furnishings. Hyacinth blue is the new popular hue. Beige tones will outsmart grays.

At windows we will have scalloped, hemmed and tasseled pull shades that will not give us that closed-in feeling. There are the new silhouette lace type draw curtains especially for the large picture window, says designer Seulah Chariat, who utilizes lace tablecloth looms to give homemakers 15-foot width curtains for larger windows.

"New Tablet Relieves 'Hot Flashes,' Irritation From Change-Of-Life Without Costly Shots!"

"Shots I took gave no relief," says W. W. Chicago. "But with Pinkham's Tablets—no hot flashes—no 'sorry for myself' spells!"

Science offers women new freedom from much misery of change-of-life, thanks to an amazing tablet developed especially to relieve such functional discomforts. Doctors report sensational results using this home treatment alone—and no costly injections!

Relief for 8 out of 10 Tested! Irritability was calmed. Dizziness relieved. Hot flashes subsided. Here's why. This new tablet is a unique combination of special medicines. Acts directly on the cause of these troubles to relieve tense feelings, physical distress that bring unhappiness to so many. Clinical tests prove this.

Don't let change-of-life rob you of joy! Ask for "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets," now at drugstores without prescription. Contains blood-building iron. (Also liquid Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

Mrs. Lillie White New President of Hamlin Firemen's Auxiliary

Mrs. Lillie White, wife of the fire chief, was elected president of the Volunteer Fire Department Woman's Auxiliary at the annual business meeting of the group at the Starr Drive-Inn December 31.

Other officers named included: Nell McGuire, vice president; Lillie Branscum, secretary; Helen Thompson, treasurer; Lennie Cochran, parliamentarian; and Elizabeth Perrin, reporter.

The business session followed a steak dinner for the woman's group, which was staged as a surprise treat by members of the fire department for their wives.

Attorney J. C. Turner Speaks at Meeting of Fifty-Two Study Club

Attorney J. C. Turner was the special speaker at a meeting of the Fifty-Two Study Club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. T. Drake. Mrs. Dale Lain was co-hostess.

The club collect was read by Mrs. Joe League. Turner, guest speaker for the public affairs program, was introduced by Mrs. Wilson Brannon. He explained the food, drug and cosmetic law and the benefits received from the law.

Mrs. Dean Witt presided during the business session. The club voted to buy a dictionary for the Harden Memorial Library. Mrs. Cecil Sellers, Mrs. Joe League and Mrs. Irvy Weaver were named as a nominating committee.

Members present for the Friday session were Meses. Gordon Feller, F. E. Bayouth, B. O. Bell, Wilson Brannon, Joe League, Fred B. Moore Jr., Edgar Lewis, W. S. Seals, Cecil Sellers, Irvy Weaver, Noel Weaver, W. C. Westbrook, Gene Westmoreland, Dean Witt and G. T. Wright.

Beautiful Pat Cowden, the 1956 Maid of Cotton, wears the sophisticated young formal designed in American cotton especially for her by Bernard Sagardoy, noted Parisian designer. The dramatic printed cotton, Everglaze cotton satin by Flugelman, is draped into a figure revealing evening gown with sweeping back fullness. It has one shouldered decollete accented by a flaring bow.

HOLD SLIPPERY MATS.

Rubber sink mats will not stick to the drainboard if paste wax is applied to the under-side of the pad.

Mrs. Darris L. Egger Speaks at Meeting of Parent-Teacher Unit

Hamlin Elementary Parent-Teacher Association met Thursday afternoon at 3:45 p. m. in the Primary School cafeteria when Mrs. Darris L. Egger, wife of the pastor of the First Methodist Church, was the featured speaker.

The program topic was "We, the People—Invest in Education." Invocation was given by Austin Siburt, minister of the Hamlin Church of Christ. Mrs. E. D. Perrin gave the thought for the day, and Mrs. Egger brought some valuable information from the Christian Century and the Texas Parent-Teacher on investing in education.

Each member voted secretly for someone worthy of receiving the Texas life membership award and that person's name will be revealed and the award given at the Founder's Day meeting on February 7, according to Mrs.

State Capitol NEWS

By Vern Sanford,
Manager, Texas Press Association

Austin.—Austin is in its every-other-January whirl. Inaugural festivities of the 15th will climax two weeks of fanfare traditional to the premier of a new state administration.

Stepped-up tempo in the capitol began New Year's Day when scores of new officials took the oath of office. It redoubled this week as gavel banged in another Legislature.

Next week thousands more will arrive to "dance in the new governor." Their 1957 inaugural invitations are unusually elaborate—gold embossed and purple tasseled. Forty thousand were printed.

Other arrangements are similarly lavish. An hour-long parade will precede the high noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the capitol. In the afternoon there will be a band concert, then a reception at the capitol. That evening Governor and Mrs. Price Daniel and Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ben Ramsey will lead the grand march of state officials and their wives at the chief inauguration ball at the Gregory gymnasium. From there the official party will make a round of the four other balls over town.

Citizens of Austin pick up the check for this bi-annual spree. Estimated cost this year: $15,000.

Land Commissioner Earl Rudder begins his first elective term with a re-organized board.

Sworn in with Rudder were William Gassett, El Campo banker, and L. E. Page of Carthage, former state commander of the American Legion.

A new constitutional amendment dropped the governor and attorney general as ex-officio board members. Instead, the governor is required to appoint two "citizens at large," one versed in finance, the other in veterans' affairs.

Board members immediately went to work on the new $100,000,000 bond issue for veterans' land buying as authorized in the same amendment.

New Attorney General Will Wilson promised to "consistently support state sovereignty" in cases where federal-state authority is at issue.

Wilson said his office would seek to protect school officials and students from violence and intimidation stemming from desegregation efforts.

He also promised to push completion of the Duval County and veterans' land cases begun by his predecessor, John Ben Shepperd.

Will Wilson's resignation as Supreme Court justice last summer touched off a chain reaction.

Results: James R. Norvell of San Antonio is the new Supreme Court justice. He was elected.

H. D. Barrow of Jourdantown was appointed by Governor Shivers to succeed Norvell as associate justice of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio.

John F. May of Karnes City was appointed by Shivers to succeed Barrow as judge of the 81st District Court.

Richard L. Dobie Jr. of Cotulla was appointed to succeed May as 1st District attorney.

Governor Shivers also named L. D. Ratliff of Spur as judge of 10th District Court. And more than a score of others were appointed to state agencies, commissions and college boards.

Another appointee, John Osorio of Austin, was elected chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners immediately after taking office as a member.

Also in the swearing-in news, through a novel coincidence, were two old hands. Supreme Court Justice Robert Calvert administered the oath to State Comptroller Robert Calvert. No kin.

He will be general counsel for extensive West Texas and New Mexico oil and banking interests.

And definitely no more politics, said Shepperd, who didn't run for re-election. He said he returned more than $11,000 sent him in one day only, for a U. S. Senate campaign.

A separate department to oversee sale of securities has been recommended to Governor Allan Shivers by a committee he named to study the matter several months ago.

Securities are now regulated by divisions of the secretary of state's office and the Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Broader power for the state to deny or revoke licenses was also recommended.

Last minute efforts are underway to firm up recommendations to the Legislature for financing Texas water storage facilities.

A water use tax has been approved by the Texas Water Resources Committee. A proposal to levy taxes on fishermen has been shelved.

Sportsmen went gunning for the latter measure at a public hearing. They said the proposed levies on boats, motors and licenses would fall on a few to benefit all; would discriminate against sporting equipment dealers; and would divert customers to other states.

Chairman George Parkhouse of Dallas conceded later that the boating and fishing tax was dead—at least for the time being.

Given approval was a water use tax which would require a constitutional amendment. Uses subject to the tax would include irrigation and hydro-electric power, as well as others. Expected revenue was figured at nearly $2,000,000 annually.

Senator Parkhouse said he would also seek diversion of about $5,000,000 a year from farm-to-market road funds.

Short Shorts—President Eisenhower, slated to visit West Texas on his "drouth tour" next week, likely will find plenty of dust.

U. S. Department of Agriculture reports improved pasture due to rains in the eastern two-thirds of the state, but downhill conditions in the west. . . . Texas Railroad Commission set the state's January oil allowable at 3,421,058 barrels a day, same as for December.

State-wide production remains at 16 days. . . . Texas hunting fatalities dropped from 35 in 1955 to 18 in 1956, reports the Game and Fish Commission. Of the 1956 deaths, six were self-inflicted; 11 involved teen-agers.

ONE SURE SIGN.

The great scientist scanned the heavens through the giant telescope. Intensely absorbed in what he was studying, he remarked rather absently to his colleague:

"It's going to rain tonight."

"What makes you say that?" his colleague asked excitedly.

"Corns hurt," said the scientist.

TIME HAS PASSED.

"I don't look 30, do I, dear?" she asked her husband.

"Not any more."

Mrs. Leona Jones, Area Resident 25 Years, Succumbs

Funeral services for Mrs. Leona Edith Jones, 78-year-old Hamlin resident who has lived here for a quarter of a century, were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the Calvary Baptist Church. Officiating was Rev. Calvin Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jones died Saturday in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital after a period of declining health. She had been a hospital patient for about three weeks.

Born April 1, 1879, at Mason, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wilson. She married J. M. Jones at Coleman in 1895. The couple had lived in the Hamlin community for some 25 years. She was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Interment was in the Hamlin East Cemetery under the direction of the Hamlin Funeral Home.

Surviving Mrs. Jones are her husband, J. M. Jones of Hamlin; three daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Evans of Coolidge, Arizona, Mrs. Jim Sedberry and Mrs. Lou Stinnett of Hamlin; two sisters, Mrs. W. T. Miller of Hawley and Mrs. Laura Graham of Austin; nine grand-

Safety on Farm and Ranch Being Stressed

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council reminds farmers and ranchers of the Hamlin area that it is not too late to get a few resolutions made covering safety during the coming year.

"Don't," they say, "let a crippling or fatal accident spoil 1957 on your farm." Most accidents can be prevented, and the best preventative is the use of common sense in all farm operations.

The moment that the new viewing telephone gets into use some joker is going to put on a mask and chortle, "Guess who this is?"

Bible Study Course Underway at Sunset

A special study course on "How to Study the Bible" is being conducted this week at the Sunset Baptist Church, according to Rev. R. B. Tiner, pastor of the North Hamlin congregation.

The pastor is leading in the course, giving pointers to attendants on how to get the most from their Bible reading. The course continues through Friday evening. Everyone is welcome, says Rev. Tiner.

Lions Club Averages 89.1% Attendance at Meetings Last Year

Members of the Hamlin Lions Club had an attendance record for the year 1956 of 89.1 per cent, reported Secretary Donley Williams at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the civic group at the oil mill guest house. The club began the year with 38 active members and ended the year with 40 for a net gain of two.

January is membership month in Lions Clubs of the country, declared L. H. McBride, who was in charge of the program. He urged that names of prospective members be worked during the period.

McBride, who is zone chairman for clubs of this area, made several announcements of impending gatherings. The annual mid-winter conference of District 2-E will be held next Thursday at the Baker Hotel in Mineral Wells, to which all club officers are invited, along with their ladies. First zone meeting of the new year will be held February 12 at the Bluebonnet Hotel in Sweetwater.

President Edgar Duncan reported that a negro minstrel is being planned by the club for the near future.

Guests at the Tuesday luncheon included Carl Benefield of Amarillo and Tom Lowery of Denton.

Team Scores 451 Points So Far to Opponents' 556

Don Adair, forward on the Hamlin High School basketball team, leads his teammates in scoring in the games played so far this year by the Pied Pipers. He has looped 165 points in the 12 tilts played for an average of 12.7 points per game.

Others on the team have these records: Bill Murf, total points 32, game average 4.6; John Richey, total points 57, game average 4.4; Ed Shields, total points 47, game average 4; and Davey Weaver, total points 24, game average two.

As a team the Pipers have scored 451 points to their opponents' 556 with a game average score of 34.7 points to their opponents' 42.8.

In racking up the 161 points the Piper cagers have looped 161 field goals to their opponents' 186. On the other side the opponents have thrown 314 free throws for 184 points for a percentage of 58 per cent.

Don Adair and Dee Prewit have each been selected to all-tournament teams. Adair was selected for all-tournament at the Snyder basketball meet, where he averaged 16 points in two games. Prewit was honored at Haskell, where his fine defensive play and consistent rebounding earned him a spot on the team.

Pipers Open District Cage Tilt at Seymour

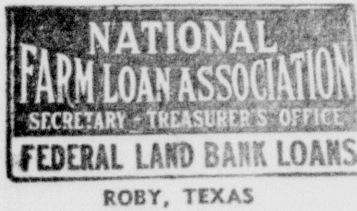

Pied Piper cagers from Hamlin High School opened their District 4-AA conference season Tuesday night against the strong Seymour crew on the Seymour courts. A fair sized delegation of boosters followed the cagers to the Baylor County capital.

Coach Harrell Blackburn's lads have looked fairly good in games so far, although the coach admits they are missing more tries for the basket than he would like, both on floor shots and from the foul line.

The A crew also was to play at Seymour Tuesday night.

Half Fried Chicken Will Be Portion For Attendants at All-District Banquet

Men and high school athletes who cannot eat half a fried chicken will be considered "chicken" at the annual banquet for the All-District 4-AA football banquet, to be staged next Saturday night, January 19, at the new Hamlin High School gymnasium.

Half a fried chicken will be the portion of each attendant on the menu, along with a baked potato, green beans, cream gravy, salad vegetables, hot rolls, butter, fruit cobbler, tea and coffee. The dinner, sponsored by the Hamlin Pied Piper Booster Club, will be prepared and served cafeteria style by women of the high school cafeteria staff.

Tickets for the annual gesture of friendship by the local booster group are being sold to members of the club and other boosters of the community at $3 each. Each ticket will pay for the holder's dinner as well as that of one guest, according to Bobby Crowley, president of the booster club.

Guests will include the complete Hamlin High grid squad, members of the all-district teams from all five schools in District 4-AA, coaches and others from each of the schools. Athletes from Haskell High School, which was on probation the past season, also

WHO'S GOT THE FARM?

In the days before oil was discovered in West Texas, a man stopped one night at a dry ranch near a small town. As he sized up the place, he became more and more puzzled as to how the little ranch paid its way.

At last he ventured to question the host: "How in the world do you make a go of it here?" he asked.

Pointing a finger at a man lolling on the doorstep, the host replied: "You see that feller there? He's the hired man. He works for me, and I can't pay 'im. In two years he gets the ranch. Then I work for 'im till I gets it back."

NO SLOUCH HIMSELF.

"Yes," the teacher explained, quite a number of plants and flowers have the prefix 'dog.' For instance, the dog rose and dog violet are well known. Can any of you name another?" There was silence, then a happy look illuminated the face of a boy at the back of the class.

"Please, teacher," he called out, proud of his knowledge, "Collie flower!"

Cagers from Hamlin Place Seventh in Haskell Tournament

Hamlin's Pied Pipers placed seventh in the Haskell basketball invitational tournament that was held during the Christmas holidays.

In the first round of the tournament Seymour dumped the Pipers 46 to 33. Bill Murf was high pointer for Hamlin with nine marks, and Don Adair hit eight. Moss and Ryan of Seymour tied for high point honors with 15 points each.

The Pipers met Munday the next night and were again turned back 46 to 34. Don Adair hit nine points for Hamlin, and Ed Shields made eight, while Elliott was high for Munday with 10 points.

Wienert was the opponent in the third game of the tournament and the first victim as Hamlin beat that crew 36 to 27. John Richey led the scoring for Hamlin with 10 points, followed by Charles Jenkins with nine points.

Dee Prewit received an award for being selected to the all-tournament of the Haskell tourney.

FIVE NEW FORD glamour wagons long, low and loaded with Go!

Leave it to the station wagon leader to make the big news for '57! And what news! Wagons so big, so full of fine-car prestige that you'll wonder how it can be done at low Ford prices.

If your choice is the Country Squire, you'll be proud to pull up at the finest places in this new glamour wagon with its wood-like trim.

If your needs call for a 6-passenger wagon with four doors, you'll love the new Country Sedan. It has almost nine feet of loadspace—nearly a foot more than ever before.

There's still another 4-door Country Sedan. It has the extra third seat for 9-passenger room. And, as in all Ford wagons for '57, you have the new single-control handle which opens both the wrap-around liftgate and tailgate with one motion. And they can't be opened from inside!

There's good news, too, about Ford's popular Ranch Wagon. This 6-passenger, 2-door model features Ford's new subdued tones, and smart interiors which defy muddy little shoes and drippy chocolate cones.

In the wonderful way that Ford can take a fine thing and make it even finer, the Del Rio Ranch Wagon goes beyond the Ranch Wagon in style, fabrics and trim.

Better take a Ford wagon for a spin. You'll agree that for styling it's a sweetheart... for work and power, it's an obedient slave!

New '57 Fords have toughest shakedown cruise in history!

The '57 Ford broke 458 national and international records from 1 kilometer to 50,000 miles at Bonneville, Utah. For 50,000 miles, two '57 Fords averaged over 107 and 108 mph respectively. This time included all pit stops... the greatest endurance feat of all time!

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By Tex Easley, AP Washington Correspondent

Washington.—Law suits stemming from the record total of automobile deaths Christmas season and the heavy New Year's toll will point up the need for more federal judges, a Dallas man says.

Elmore Whitehurst, now handling administrative problems of the federal judiciary system from his headquarters in the Supreme Court, noted the relationship.

"The dockets of the federal courts everywhere are crowded," he commented. "Suits against inurance companies arising out of accidents contribute greatly to the heavy case loads."

Observing that more than 700 persons were killed in highway accidents during the Christmas season alone, Whitehurst remarked that many legal contests stemming from these undoubtedly would get into federal courts. The backlog of cases on most dockets means it might be 1961 before these accident cases came up for decision, he said.

Asked whether or not commissioners might not be deputized to pass on such suits, Whitehurst said that so far no one has come up with substitute procedures which would fully guarantee the citizen the rights and protection inherent in the trial system provided by the courts.

The federal judicial conference, said Whitehurst, has recommended to Congress that it create 35 additional federal district judgeships over the nation and two additional circuit court judgeships. Among the proposed new district judgeships are three in Texas—one each in the northern, southern and western districts.

He remarked that the northern Texas district docket would be crowded more than it is but for

Refunds of Gasoline Taxes Must Be Shown in Farmers' Income Returns

Farmers and ranchers of the Hamlin area are being advised of provisions for refunds on the federal excise tax on gasoline for the past year. A release to The Herald declares:

If you file your return on the accrual method, any refund of the federal excise tax on gasoline to which you are entitled must be accrued in the taxable year the gasoline is used. Such accrued refund may then be deducted from your expenses for gasoline, thus decreasing your deductible business expenses. If you prefer you may include the accrued refund in gross income and deduct the full amount of your expenses for gasoline.

If you file your return on the cash method, you may handle your gasoline tax refunds in either of two ways. One method is to deduct the entire purchase price of your gasoline in the taxable year paid and include the entire amount of the gasoline tax refund in gross income in the taxable year it is received. While this method has the advantage of simplicity, there is a possibility that it may cost you a small amount of extra tax. In most cases, however, the tax will be the same under this simple method as it is under the more complicated method described below.

Refunds of federal excise tax

the fact that 87-year-old Judge William Atwell has continued to serve on the bench voluntarily even though he is technically retired, and because Judge Joe Estes has achieved a "prodigious output" in disposition of cases.

Omnibus legislation creating a score or more of new federal judgeships over the country is certain to come up for early consideration in the new Congress, which convened January 3. Such a measure was approved by both the House and Senate judiciary committees last session, but failed to get floor action before adjournment.

Helping lighten the work load of the U. S. tax court here is an old-timer among Texans in Washington, Judge Eugene Black. A member of Congress from East Texas from 1915 to 1929 when he was appointed to the court, the 77-year-old judge technically was retired in 1953 and a successor named. Voluntarily he was continued to serve—at no extra expense to taxpayers; he receives only his retired pay, which is the same as he had been earning.

After what seemed like hours, the doctor emerged from the examination room and addressed himself to Mr. Smith.

Booklet on Irrigation Available to Farmers

More and more farmers of the Hamlin area are becoming interested in the possibilities of irrigation for their crops, declares the county agent, Bill Lehmborg.

Helpful suggestions are contained in the recently issued publication, "Thinking of Irrigation," released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Copies are available through the offices of the county agent. It was prepared especially for those contemplating an irrigation system for their farms.

JUST WHO'S CRAZY?

A new patient at a sanitarium for the mildly deranged complained to the attending physician:

"What's the idea of sticking me in a room with that crazy guy over there?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said the doctor placatingly; "it's the only room we have available just now. Is your roommate troublesome?" "Why, the guy's crazy! He keeps looking around and saying, 'No lions, no tigers, no elephants'—and all the time the room's full of 'em!"

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

Most glamorous car in a generation

It's triggered by a new TorqueFlite transmission

Want to pass a car or a truck on the highway? You don't have to kick the throttle to the floor. Just touch lightly... and ZOOM!

Want to get out in front when the light goes green? Relax!

Count five, then toe the throttle. You'll still be out there alone.

Mighty in power... but mighty easy to control, too! That's the performance story of the new 1957 Chrysler. A superb new airplane-type V-8 engine that develops up to 325 horsepower teams with a new TorqueFlite transmission, pushbutton operated. This powerful combination gives you a magnificent new hi-velocity getaway from standing starts, great reserve power for passing when you need it and velvety smoothness. Yes, this 1957 Chrysler is every bit the streak of a car it looks to be. Come in and test it for yourself... compare it with any of the other new cars for power, performance, comfort and looks. More people than ever before are switching to Chrysler, and that puts us in excellent trading position to give you the best of deals on your old car.

Illustrated is the Chrysler New Yorker 4-Door Hardtop. The dual headlights, now permissible in all states, are optional equipment.
